DRY FLEET IN CLOSE GUARD OVER WET SQUADRON

Heavy Fog And Calm Sea May Cause Craft To Strike At Blockade

NEW YORK, May 11.—The United States "dry navy" blockading the "whiskey armada" thirty miles at sea today was on the alert in anticipation of a dash for freedom on the part of the "rum fleet."

A heavy fog, hanging thickly over a calm sea, was looked upon by coast guard officers as "the mak" which rum skippers have been waiting for since the beginning of the rigid blockade a week ago.

Some prohibition officers believed the bootleggers would take advantage of the mist and slip away to a new base of operations. In some quarters it was reported that the booze fleet was heading for Chesapeake bay.

In anticipation of any such move, it was said the government already had assembled another "dry fleet" off the Virginia capes.

Only one boat has attempted to run the blockade through New York harbor. She escaped, but not before losing more than 100 cases of liquor overboard to increase her speed.

The depleted number of ships on rum row today was eight large vessels. Opposing them were thirty-eight cutters, made-over destroyers and patrol boats. Fifty-five vessels of all classes were available for the blockade with each doing a three-day tour of duty before being relieved.

Marine 'Secret Service' Keeps Check On Rum Fleet
WASHINGTON, May 11.—Rum runners and the government's dry navy were playing a gigantic game of hide and seek off the Atlantic coast today.

Reports to coast guard headquarters showed that the liquor ships are shifting their position and that rum row apparently is scattering.

The marine "secret service" was keeping a close check on the whereabouts of the forty foreign vessels which make up the Atlantic liquor colony.

Designation of the cutter Mojave as flagship of the prohibition navy was announced. The ship heading a special patrol of ten cutters, is commanded by Commander W. J. Wheeler.

Coast guard cutters and patrol boats were close on the heels of the liquor ships which have deserted rum row. When "escorts" were not available, the Chesapeake bay fleet was notified by radio to be on the lookout for the south bound rum runners and to inform "G. H. Q." at Washington of the new location.

Plunge In Air Helps Hearing Of Music Marm
SACRAMENTO, May 11.—Miss Ethel Menz, Oakland music teacher, had her hearing partially restored as the result of a 9000-foot plunge in an airplane at the Sacramento air meet yesterday.

Miss Menz had suffered from deafness for years. She engaged Lieutenant C. G. Andrews to attempt the air dive cure.

After climbing 10,200 feet, Lieutenant Andrews plunged 9000 feet and Miss Menz said she felt better.

Thirteen persons paid fines totaling $160 for reckless driving and sixty-two who failed to obtain their 1925 registration certificates paid fines aggregating $55. Eighteen were fined a total of $55 for operating with an open muffler.

Traffic violators paid a total of $2227 during the month. There were a total of 410 cases before Judge Lowe during April, as compared with 589 in March.

FLEET ANCHORED OFF LAHAINA ISLE

America's Armada Waiting To Engage In Maneuvers Of Minor Class

LAHAINA, Island of Maui, May 11.—The United States fleet of more than 130 vessels, was anchored in Lahaina roads today.

For nine miles along the island ride the ships of the American navy, are waiting to engage in two weeks' maneuvering before returning from Honolulu from which port a portion of the fleet will proceed to Australia.

Sorties into the open sea for tactical exercises will be engaged in from now until the end of the month.

Close Formation
The vessels are anchored close together, as the depth of the water permits this, and the sight is far more magnificent than when the fleet was off Honolulu, San Diego and San Francisco.

Towering mountains, their bases covered with green fields of cane, throw their shadows over the dreadnaughts.

Possession of Lahaina, a small town filled with hospitality, has been given the American sailors, following formal welcoming ceremonies, in which the ranking admirals of the fleet received the commander-in-chief of Maui and a reception committee aboard the U. S. S. Seattle, flagship of Admiral R. E. Coontz.

STATE ALIEN LAW UPHELD BY COURT

Supreme Tribunal Obstructs Lawyer's Efforts To Circumvent Measure

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The supreme court of the United States today dealt a blow to efforts to circumvent California's anti-alien law by dismissing the appeal brought by W. A. Cockrill, a San Francisco lawyer, and S. Ikada, a Japanese.

Cockrill bought farm lands with money supplied by the Japanese, who claimed the lands were to be held in trust for his children. Convicted in California courts on the ground the lands were really to be held in trust for Ikada, they appealed.

JURY TO HEAR POISON PLOT EVIDENCE AT ONCE

Mrs. Shepherd's Case Will Be Acted Upon Before Trial Of Husband

CHICAGO, May 11.—The case of Mrs. Julie Shepherd, held under $5000 bail as an accessory to the alleged murders of Mrs. Emma McClintock and her son, William Nelson McClintock, will be presented to a grand jury Wednesday, it was announced this afternoon at the office of State's Attorney Crowe.

Crowe said he wanted to get the matter disposed of before the start of the trial of her husband, William D. Shepherd, on a charge of murdering the boy. This is scheduled for May 18.

The defense effort to free William D. Shepherd from the charge of murder against him in connection with the death of McClintock, his millionaire ward, will be based almost entirely on attacks on the credibility of state witnesses. This became known here today with the date for the trial exactly one week distant.

Darrow To Help
And among those who will lend their aid in attacking the state testimony, it has been revealed, will be Clarence Darrow, wily criminal attorney who has cheated the gallows of 103 candidates.

Darrow will not appear in the Shepherd case primarily as counsel, however, although it is said he will act in an advisory capacity.

Ostensibly however, he will be a defense witness, called to discredit Dr. George A. Fosberg.

Called 'Professional'
Fosberg already has declared that Shepherd, on numerous occasions, interviewed him regarding germs, poisons and the administration of various death dealing poisons and he will be called to testify to this effect at the trial.

In an effort to establish Fosberg as a "Professional" witness, Darrow will take the stand to repeat his charges that during the Leopold-Loeb trial, Fosberg came to his office and offered to testify that Richard Loeb was innocent, Fosberg, Darrow claims, told him he had frequently treated young Loeb and knew him to be mentally deranged. Loeb and members of his family afterwards denied he knew Fosberg or had ever been examined by him, Darrow claims.

Expect Opening Gun In Grade Crossing Battle Will Be Fired Tonight

Petitioning the State Railroad commission to make a survey of conditions at Los Feliz road and the Southern Pacific tracks for the purpose of obtaining a grade separation, the Glendale Planning commission tonight is expected to approve a resolution to be adopted jointly by the cities of Glendale and Los Angeles.

The petition will supplement a similar one recently filed by the Los Angeles County Grade Crossing commission and is expected to be the opening gun of an extended fight over the method by which the separation of grade shall be obtained. The grade crossing commission will ask that a subway be constructed beneath the tracks, the cost to be provided by the State Railroad commission to Southern Pacific R. R. Co., the city of Los Angeles and the city of Glendale. Los Angeles has already voted bonds for the work, but Glendale has taken no steps to raise the amount that will be required.

Opposing the grade crossing commission method, Los Angeles and Glendale are expected to demand that the Southern Pacific tracks be lowered their entire length inside the city limits and overhead crossings be constructed. The resolution to be adopted tonight is the first step. The planning commission will present the petition to the City Council for approval on Thursday.

POLICE READY TO PREVENT OUTBREAK BY REDS

Communist Agitation For Strike Fails; War Lord Gets Big Greeting

By W. D. WEYER
For International News Service.
BERLIN, May 11.—President-elect Paul von Hindenburg arrived late this afternoon in Berlin. A capital gay with flags and teeming with cheering thousands welcomed him. Sixteen thousand police, the largest number mobilized since the revolution, guarded against disorders.

Chancellor Luther, who will continue in office under the new regime, General Von Seeckt, the lord mayor of Berlin, and other dignitaries were at the Heerstrasse station to greet Hindenburg. The chancellor's 10-year-old daughter held a great bouquet to present to the new president.

Hindenburg was greeted like a conquering hero. The greatest enthusiasm was shown. Front rooms at the Hotel Adlon were crowded with a brilliant assemblage of diplomatic corps representatives. From the United States embassy waved the Stars and Stripes, at the French embassy, below Brandenburg gate, the French tri-color was displayed, in contrast to the black, red and white Imperial of Germany, the white, black and gold of the republic.

A throng of a half million spectators jammed the line of march from the station to the Wilhelmstrasse palace, where Hindenburg will make his official residence until the presidential palace has been made ready for him.

There was no violence during the day marking Hindenburg's entry into Berlin. On Saturday there was trouble at Oderberg, an outlying town where two men were killed.

Drizzling rain did not deter the preparations of the thousands making ready for Hindenburg's arrival. Although the train bringing the president-elect was not due until 5:50 p. m., the streets began to fill at noon.

The field marshal arrived at the Heerstrasse station, accompanied by his son, Major von Hindenburg, the major's wife and Colonel von Feldmann.

Police learned that Reds planned numerous demonstrations coincident with the president-elect's arrival and have taken care that these radical groups will be kept from any approach to the line of march.

The Communist agitation for a twenty-four hour strike failed. The Social Democrats refusing their support to the proposal.

Specialy manned police airplanes dived over the many miles of city while police looked down through field glasses at the vast throng to witness the arrival of the former field marshal and war hero. Each airplane was equipped with radio apparatus, with receiving sets in temporary police field headquarters set up about the city.

As a precaution against trouble, a police order was issued denying the 200,000 members of the Nationalist organization the right to use their bands during the parade. The order declared that any organization bringing its band would be dissolved immediately.

The Nationalists planned to make Hindenburg's arrival from Hanover a day of triumph for their party as well as one of adulation for the victor.

Harmony Is Restored In Council Meet

WASHINGTON, May 11.—With harmony apparently restored, the International Council of Women today, without a record vote, passed the second section of the disarmament resolution which Saturday threw the convention into an uproar. The American delegation did not vote.

Pro-disarmament forces having overwhelmingly demonstrated their strength, argument on the "resolutions" was limited to details and the customary roll call was not required.

The resolution read: "The council draws the attention of their members to the spirit of the protocol drafted by the fifth assembly of the League of Nations and recommends careful study before the meeting of the sixth assembly, when the discussion on the protocol will be renewed."

Inclement weather was given as the reason for the postponement. Ellsworth will serve as observer in one of the airplanes, Amundson acting as observer in the other. Two airplanes, Amundson believed, will lessen the danger.

Glendale Woman Given Small Amount In Will

Mrs. Thomas H. Hale, said to be a resident of Glendale, and widow of an Iowa banker, will receive only $1 under the terms of her husband's will, which was made public in San Francisco today, according to word received here. The will, in regard to the bequest to Mrs. Hale, announces that Mr. Hale, who died May 18, 1924, cut off his wife with the meagre amount because she deserted her husband when he was blind and paralyzed. The city directory does not list a Mrs. Thomas H. Hale.

It was not until the whole center of the structure was ablaze at 11:30 o'clock last night that a motorist passing on Glendale avenue noticed the fire and drove to police headquarters on Broadway where he notified Desk Sergeant F. J. Lipstreu who called fire station No. 1.

All of the apparatus from the headquarters station responded under the supervision of Fire Chief Lankford. Four lines of hose poured water into the flames from every side of the structure.

DAMAGE FROM MYSTERIOUS FLAMES IS $12,000

Authorities Are Hunting For Person Responsible For Blaze In Building

Fire of incendiary origin last night destroyed the Doran street school building at Doran and Everett streets, causing a loss of nearly $12,000, covered by $10,000 insurance.

Fire Chief A. H. Lankford and Chief of Police John D. Fraser today are making an investigation in an effort to trace down the person or persons responsible for the blaze. While most of the contents were saved from destruction by fire by prompt action on the part of the fire department, they were damaged by heat and water and will have to be refinished.

There are two theories that are being worked on by the investigators at the present time:

1—That for an unknown motive some persons broke into the school building and deliberately built a fire in one angle of the large main hallway, or

2—Young people engaged in a "petting party" after having broken open the front door, carelessly started a blaze from cigarettes and when they were unable to bring it under control they fled.

The second theory is the most favored, because of the fact that incidents of that nature have been brought to the attention of the Board of Education in the past by the police department, and because when the fire department arrived at the scene of the blaze last night a small stream of water was running from a two-inch fire nozzle kept in the hallway of the building.

Frightened, Belief
Chief Lankford believes that the persons who caused the fire turned the water on it and became frightened when it got beyond control and fled.

It was not until the whole center of the structure was ablaze at 11:30 o'clock last night that a motorist passing on Glendale avenue noticed the fire and drove to police headquarters on Broadway where he notified Desk Sergeant F. J. Lipstreu who called fire station No. 1.

All of the apparatus from the headquarters station responded under the supervision of Fire Chief Lankford. Four lines of hose poured water into the flames from every side of the structure.

NEWS OF STAGE AND SCREEN

VIEWS AND PREVIEWS—NEWS NOTES FROM STUDIOS
Compiled By Members of The Glendale Evening News Staff

Strong Role

LEWIS STONE, who appears in 'HUSBANDS AND LOVERS' at Cosmo theatre.

Humor, the most effective form of argument, is John M. Stahl's chief weapon in the attack waged against the enemies of domestic happiness in his latest picture, "Husbands and Lovers," now showing at the Cosmo theatre.

Lewis Stone, Florence Vidor and Lew Cody are among the stars in the cast.

Arousing joyous chuckles and peals of laughter with every situation, "Husbands and Lovers" is a clever satire that strikes up a bond of sympathy with everyone who sees it. It is natural picture of everyday people. The little annoyances and problems that beset the average married couple are shown in their true perspective. To the characters on the screen they are very serious affairs. So cleverly is the story handled that the spectator finds the action highly humorous and yet realizes that behind it all is a lesson well worth taking to heart.

GATEWAY PICTURE CONTAINS THRILL

'Code of The West' Delights All Who See It; Tells Interesting Story

A rousing romance, seasoned with several spectacular thrills and some genuine laughs—that's "Code of the West," the new Paramount film which is showing at the Gateway theatre today and Tuesday. It's a picturization of the story of the same name by the well-known Zane Grey.

The author has every reason to feel grateful to Lucien Hubbard, who wrote the screen version, and William K. Howard, who directed the picture, for the plot has lost none of its virility and vitality by its transfer to the silver sheet.

Moreover, the actual locations mentioned in the book—the picturesque and rugged country in the Tonto Basin, Arizona—were used as backgrounds, so that the colorful scenery is not the least of the photoplay's worth-while features.

Interest in the picture is further heightened by the performances of an exceptional cast headed by a quintet of popular players, including Owen Moore, Constance Bennett, Mabel Ballin, Charles Ogle and David Butler.

The action of the story deals with the romance of Miss Bennett, a vivacious little flapper from the East, and Owen Moore, a somewhat bashful cowboy from the West. Miss Bennett's flirtatious ways provoke Moore, who is genuinely in love with her, into using caveman tactics and forcing her to marry him at the point of a gun.

The surprising developments that follow lead up to a thundering climax that furnishes the nth degree of excitement and thrills. Two of the many tremendous scenes in the picture include a dynamic automobile-horse race and raging forest fire.

Meteoric Rise

William Haines, age only 23, in "Fighting the Flames" at Glendale Theatre, has had rapid upward climb.

The story of the motion picture and its rise is interlarded with the most romantic histories of the rise and fall of its many stars. Some arrive at the pinnacle of public acclamation only after years of striving and playing of small parts in obscure companies, and others seem to jump out of civil life and sky-rocket to dizzy heights of fame almost over night.

Of this last class William Haines is an excellent example and more to be noticed in that his rise has been a well deserved one. Haines has done many things in the few years of his young life. He is now 23. He has worked in the Du Pont Powder mills and thence through much traveling about in his father's profession of banking. He was discovered by a scout on lookout for talent for one of the big companies. A screen test was made of him and a contract offered.

Contract Torn Up

After playing in several pictures his contract was torn up and a real starring contract made in its place. So that after two years he has been starred in a number of prominent successes.

His present feature is "Fighting the Flames," in which he takes the part of a young man disowned by his father and told to make a man of himself. He enlists in the fire department and after many trials manages to distinguish himself.

Included in the cast are Dorothy Devore, Frankie Darrow, Charles Murray, David Torrence, Sheldon Lewis and William Welsh. The picture was directed by Reeves Eason.

PLAYERS ARE SET FOR L. A. OPENING

Dobinson Cast for 'Manna'
To Open Philharmonic
Tonight for Run

After two weeks of rehearsals, during which Thomas Chatterton, Gertrude Keller and Mignon Callish, new members of the Dobinson Players have been thoroughly assimilated as harmonious and effective elements of the cast, Olga Printzlaui's "Manna" will open at Philharmonic auditorium, Los Angeles, tonight, for a two weeks' run.

Thomas Chatterton takes the important role of "Nellie O'Brien," the crippled soldier so badly crippled by explosives and bullets that he has become a scoffer at religion, without hope—filled with bitterness. This is a part which requires great acting ability, wide experience, a strong voice and a physique to go with the robust, if warped viewpoint of the maimed man.

Mr. Chatterton has all of them to a marked degree. He had the good fortune to come under the direction of Fred J. Butler fifteen years ago in San Francisco, having worked in stock under Mr. Butler at the old Alcazar theatre there. His presentation of "Nellie" is a moving and powerful one.

Balance of Cast

Gertrude Keller is "Pansy," who is reformed by the "Manna"—Bible text—which "Peter Linden" drops out of the window of the government hospital. Miss Keller is a favorite in Los Angeles, an actress who has thrilled and charmed audiences in the city for several years. She will bring to the role of the disillusioned and sullen, but still hopeful Pansy a thoughtfulness and maturity and authority that a young girl could not hope to bring.

"Peanuts," the little irrepressible who brings sunshine into the gloomy lives of the maimed men in the hospital, is played by Mignon Callish, who has had thorough training and much experience, not only as a dancer but as an actress. Her dance is one of the features of the first episode of the play. Doris Lloyd, Joe McManus, Mary Isabelle Alpaugh, Joe Cox, Myrauna Richards, Ann Lockhart, James Worsley, Thyra Ruhl and, Richard Ehlers, Charles O'Malley, William H. Stephens, Ethan Allen and Will Chapman, will be seen in the cast.

How the Red Wheel Makes Canning Easy

The DIRECT ACTION Gas Range has a small Red Wheel at the side of the oven. This Red Wheel indicates that the range is equipped with a wonderful device—the

that measures and automatically controls the heat of the oven. This Red Wheel makes canning easy. (1) First you skin and stone the peaches in the usual manner. (2) Then you pack them in ordinary glass jars, add boiling water or syrup, place the rubbers in position, and adjust the covers loosely.

(3) Next you place the jars in the oven, setting the Red Wheel accordingly to the Lorain Canning Chart. (4) While the jars are in the oven, you need not stay in the kitchen. (5) When the time given on the chart is up, you remove the jars from the oven, tighten the covers, and your canning is done.

With the Lorain Oven Heat Regulator you can leave a Whole Meal cooking in the oven for hours, unattended; also, baking results can be perfect every time.

DIRECT ACTION Gas Ranges

The DIRECT ACTION broiler burner is entirely separate from the baking oven. You can fill the DIRECT ACTION oven with jars of fruit, and while the fruit is sterilizing at low temperature, you can broil steak or chops in a sizzling hot broiler, without disturbing the oven. The open construction of the DIRECT ACTION oven makes it an economical successful baker. Look for the name DIRECT ACTION on the oven door.

COLLEGE CLUB OFFICIALS ELECTED

Mrs. Charles Barker Named
President At Meeting Held Saturday

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff.
Mrs. Charles A. Barker, graduate of Wellesley college, prominent member of the Tuesday Afternoon club and a member of the public library board, was elected president of Glendale College Women's club at the luncheon meeting Saturday at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. Her election is indicative of her popularity in the club, of which she is a charter member and served as vice-president during the first year of Mrs. A. L. Ferguson's regime as organizing president.

Mrs. George U. Moyses, another prominent member of the club and vice-president during the past year, was Mrs. Barker's only opponent. Mrs. Barker was elected by a very narrow margin.

Other officers elected are: Mrs. Helen S. Moir, vice-president; Mrs. F. W. Line, recording secretary; Miss Clara Lauderdale, corresponding secretary; Miss Hazel White, treasurer. Their opponents were Mrs. J. S. Hayward, vice-president; Mrs. C. H. Crawford, recording secretary; Miss Lorine Fritch, corresponding secretary; Miss Anna Elam, treasurer.

Fifty Present
There were over fifty club members and guests present for the luncheon, arranged by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, assisted by Miss Laura Montgomery, with a group of Glendale High school girls serving. During the business hour after luncheon Mrs. Frank W. Parr, club president, thanked Mrs. Montgomery for the courtesies her club has extended to the college women during the year.

Reports were given by several officers and chairmen. Of special interest was the treasurer's report by Miss Hazel White. It was most comprehensive arranged and enabled club members and guests to know just what the activities have been during the year. She stated that there was on hand October 1924, $110.23; receipts for the year were $538.90, making a total of $649.13; with disbursements of $522; leaving on hand $127.13, which when outstanding bills are paid will leave a balance of $90. She mentioned that the budget outlined for the club in October was $429, and

Speaks Here

REV. 'BOB' SHULER, who will deliver an address at the Broadway Methodist church on Friday night.

The week of May 10 has been designated as "Southern Methodist Get-Acquainted Week" in Glendale. Services will be held at 7:30 o'clock each night with visiting speakers and musicians for each service. Tonight Dr. J. A. B. Fry of Long Beach will deliver the address. Dr. Fry was pastor of the Epworth University church in Berkeley for seven years and is esteemed very highly for his scholarship and Christian integrity.

Tuesday night Thomas S. Bunn will give his unique and inspiring talk entitled "Clothes." Mr. Bunn is an attorney in Los Angeles and a thorough Christian layman. Wednesday night will be devoted to an old-fashioned Methodist "experience meeting" with all the hymns "lined" and the tunes "histed" without any instrument. The Sion sisters from Los Angeles will sing.

Thursday night Bob Shuler, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, South, in Los Angeles will deliver his great address on "Four Women I Have Known." He will bring his choir with him. The closing night, Friday, will bring Dr. Charles D. Bulla, president of the Los Angeles district, as the speaker. For several years Dr. Bulla has been one of the outstanding men in Southern Methodism.

Though this is called a "Southern Methodist Get-Acquainted Week" the public at large and all friends are cordially invited to share the programs at the Broadway Methodist church, Broadway and Cedar street.

STATE SURVEY HAS BRIGHT PROMISES

Old Man Prosperity In Offing
For Californians, Writer
Reports After Trip

By GIL A. COWAN
Written for The Evening News.
You are expecting a friend to visit you, perhaps the first time in several months. All expectant, you hear a knocking at the door and, swinging the barrier open, there he is, a smiling reality. 'Tis joyous to know that he has arrived, as promised, especially when you wondered if it could really be true.

It is a fact, folks; Old Man Prosperity is on the threshold, knocking at the door of California—right now! He may not visit you personally for six months or so, considering the length and breadth of population and diversity found here, yet were you to travel over the state today you would run across his magic foot-steps as the writer has in the last three days on a 450-mile trip which brought him in contact with interests from San Francisco to Santa Ana.

Bear with a review of the facts, as brief as possible, sketchily drawn, upon which you may draw your own conclusions.

The railroads are planning to bring 200,000 tourists to California between May 15 and October 1 for the summer season. In addition, they will route 50,000 delegates to Pacific coast conventions through this state. It is roughly estimated a like number will come by motor car. The state real estate department estimates the influx at upwards of one million people a year! In Los Angeles alone the Shriners expect to entertain 60,000 to 100,000 at their conclave this summer. So much for the human factor.

Farm Conditions
Farming and farm lands conditions are excellent. One company operating in the Sacramento river valley has seventy-seven prospective settlers visiting their project this week. San Joaquin valley reports similar activity. A Fresno realtor says: "Our difficulty is not in getting buyers, but in getting growing vineyards and orchards listed at a fair price."

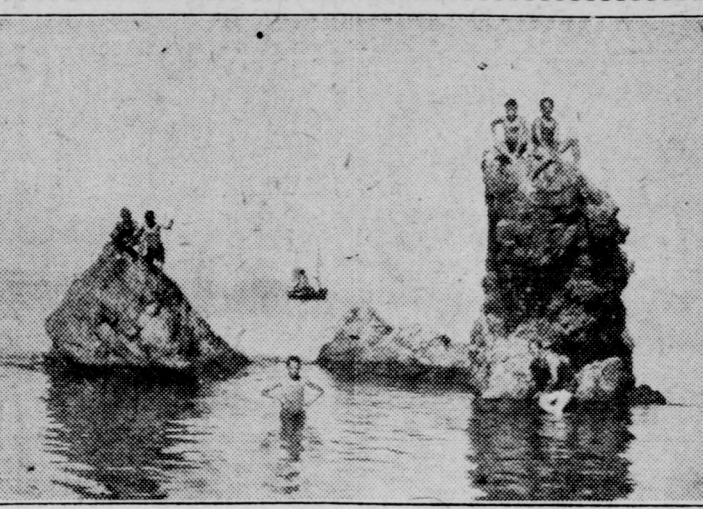

A large dairy farmer told the writer Saturday that, after five years, his plant was being operated on a budget which will permit of a 10 per cent dividend on $350,000 investment. Yet a year ago, when the hoof-and-mouth disease was ravaging herds he was sick at heart and ready to sell way Methodist church, Broadway and Cedar street.

INQUIRIES ON SOUTHLAND NUMEROUS

All-Year Club Reports More Persons Over Country
Ask Information

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—The rest of the United States is manifesting a greater interest in Los Angeles and Southern California than it did in 1923—the year of greatest travel here in history. This is revealed by inquiries to the All-Year club of Southern California, now housed in the Chamber of Commerce building and working in close co-operation with the chamber.

Eighteen per cent more persons made inquiry of the club regarding the vacation possibilities in Southern California in March than in the same month of 1923. For the present season to date, the number of inquiries is 16 per cent greater than for 1923. The inquiries are also far greater in number than for 1924. That year, however, is not entirely reliable as an index because of the several adverse advertising factors that were present.

Current Schedule
The inquiries for 1925 as against 1923, come from almost precisely the same amount of advertising. The schedule for this year is heavier than for the preceding years, but the weight of the increase is to come later in the spring.

"The inquiries," said C. G. Millard, executive secretary of the club, "are the most faithful index we have of our summer visitors. Thus far they indicate we will have a most excellent season this year. The All-Year club still lacks $18,000 of its advertising budget for the year, having $232,000 with a schedule of expenditures of $250,000."

Epworth Bible Class Calls Meet Thursday

Epworth League Bible study class will meet Thursday night at 7 o'clock at the home of Rev. Leo C. Kline, pastor of Central Avenue Methodist church, at 1124 South Central avenue. Rev. Kline is teacher. Matthew is being studied.

NOTED AUTHOR TO APPEAR TUESDAY

Gretchen Hensel Copper to Give Dramatic Readings
For Club Members

Gretchen Hensel Copper, author and dramatic interpreter, will revive the drama of eighteenth century London and of the high renaissance in Italy, in the artistic program she will present tomorrow afternoon at the meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club. Her work is said to be unique and beautiful in the field of period costume programs.

Included in her program will be two plays of London and one of Italy, the latter, "Madonna," is from a group she wrote dealing with the loves of the old masters. Mrs. F. H. Wallace, chairman of program for the club, says of Mrs. Copper's appearance:

"This program is of special interest to club women because of the great cultural and artistic merit of the matter presented. This is unusual in that it deals with great historical figures and develops not only their characters but the general artistic atmosphere in which they worked and lived. The beautiful and authentic costumes of the artist add greatly to the similitude of the pictures."

Luncheon At Noon
Club members and guests will have luncheon at 12:15 o'clock, preceding the afternoon meeting and program. Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, club president, will be hostess, assisted by Mrs. George Franklin Orgibet, chairman of the Juvenile Protective league, sponsored by the club. The sixteen girls, who belong to the league will be luncheon guests.

Honored guests and speakers will be Mrs. Thomas A. Gould, "mother" of the junior auxiliary the Women's club of Redondo Beach, and Miss Catherine Howard, president of the auxiliary. Mrs. Gould is also the "mother" of junior auxiliary work in clubs in the entire south bay district. The auxiliary of Redondo has been cited by club leaders as a model organization. Other luncheon speakers will be Mrs. W. B. Scarborough, Miss Elizabeth Ward and Miss Matthews of Los Angeles. Ebell club, all of whom will tell of junior auxiliary work there.

Daily Greeting to News Readers

IT IS A BAD IDEA—

To pull a joke if you can't take one.
To call a man a liar unless you have the facts.
To read only the books you will have to forget.
To start a scandal you can't stop.
To learn no songs that will last into next year.
To damn a man just because he differs with you.
To spend more of the chain than you do for the watch.

THE UPBUILDING OF GLENDALE

We hear continued comment and criticism of the tendency of Glendale people to go outside of Glendale to hire workers, especially in the building trades. The argument is that these contractors, carpenters, painters and plasterers have purchased homes here and are paying taxes; and yet parties from outside are favored when there is any work to be done. It is very clear that a man who has nothing but his home and his daily wage cannot contribute much to the community unless he has work. It is manifestly unfair not to give the home people any work we have to do.

But if we should support our home workers, how much more do we owe to those who have made large investments in real estate or stocks of merchandise and are keeping up stores or other places of business which by their very existence contribute to the prosperity of Glendale?

The business men of Glendale have shown their faith in the city and its future by investing their money here. And they not only prove their faith in Glendale, but they add to our wealth by maintaining payrolls, keeping up their places of business and carrying stocks of merchandise.

When we go out of town to trade we are taking from the home merchant the money he should have to pay his help, his taxes, the interest on his investment and the upkeep of his home and his place of business.

You say you are not personally interested in any of the business men of Glendale? You are not acquainted with them and have no desire to help them pay their expenses? They do not want charity and there is no reason why you should "help" them. But if you live in Glendale you should wish to keep your money where it will be used over and over again for the good of the community.

Ask yourself, "What does the out-of-town merchant do for Glendale?" and you will see the point.

ONE REASON HE WON

One of the most significant facts about President-elect Hindenburg's election is that it was brought about by what is usually termed the stay-at-home vote. The same vote insured the success of a conservative government in England a few months ago.

That which brought out the stay-at-home vote in Great Britain to support Stanley Baldwin was the story of communistic plotting in Great Britain. It is extremely likely that what stirred the stay-at-home vote in Germany to come out for Hindenburg was the recent conviction of Communist plotters in Germany, the just as recent horrors in Bulgaria and the Red ambush in France.

The victory for Hindenburg was a victory for nationalism over internationalism, and it was doubtless greatly aided by Bolshevik activities throughout Europe in recent weeks. It is said that the majority of the women voted for the Nationalist candidate. It is not likely they did so because they wanted their sons and brothers to get into another war. It is more than probable that they supported the ex-soldier because they did not want any drift toward Communism in Germany. Women as a general rule in all countries are more conservative than men, especially when the question of Socialism is up.

The Reds by their recent activities in Europe have placed Stanley Baldwin in power in England, have strengthened Mussolini's hand in Italy, have elected Hindenburg in Germany and will soon probably bring about the selection of a conservative government in France.

WHAT DAWES OPPOSES

Vice-President Dawes in his campaign against filibustering in the Senate makes it clear that what he objects to is not legitimate debate, but interruption of the business of Congress by insignificant minorities in palpably obstructive tactics.

The Senate has been from the beginning of the government a forum of debate in which great service to the American people has been performed by thorough discussion of great national issues and problems. With its smaller membership the Senate rather than the House is the body in which public questions are debated most exhaustively. When an important public question is at stake it is essential that all the light possible should be thrown upon it. The service rendered to the nation by the senators who participated in the great Senate debate on the League of Nations was historic.

There is no appreciable public sentiment in favor of curtailing legitimate debate in the Senate. The feeling against the wasting of time by meaningless harangues about nothing in particular is strong. The abuse and not the legitimate use of the greater freedom of debate essential to an effective Senate accounts for the demand that the one man or the five-man filibuster in matters of minor moment should cease. In calling attention to the abuses of the Senate rules, Vice-President Dawes is doing the nation a service. The most dangerous foes of legitimate debate in the Senate are the selfish demagogues who, from unworthy motives, pervert the Senate rules to purely obstructive uses.

TECHNICALITIES VS. COMMON SENSE

One reason so many people do not have the proper respect for law nowadays is that some of our honorable judges do such foolish things. A man recently purchased some property in California and received a clear title under the Torrens law. Not long after, a mortgage, which he did not know existed, was foreclosed. He took the matter to court and the judge ruled that he had been negligent in not learning about the mortgage. The state of California had guaranteed him a clear title, but he had to stand the loss.

A federal judge at Boston has decided that we cannot deport a Bolshevik who came here from Russia because we have no diplomatic relations with that country. This is one of those decisions in which technicality takes the place of common sense. Soviet agitators should be deported for the same reason that we do not recognize their government—irresponsibility. A schoolboy would display more logic than this learned judge.

The chap who wrote "Parting is such sweet sorrow" never parted with a month's income to pay a fourth of last year's income tax.

Fable: Once a man got a letter marked "2 cents due," and the letter was worth the 2 cents.

UNCLE SAM-SON!

The Moral Influence of Money

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Money underlies almost every form of moral activity.

People work mainly because they have to; it is necessary to make a living and to get on. The only way they can do this, on an average, is by working for it.

In other words, to be of service to the community, of such kind of service as it is willing to pay for, you must put forth all of your activities. The average man works in order to get his pay. That is, the necessity of working underlies the service to the community.

Anyone who attempts to do good to a community without pay is open to suspicion, because it is likely that he is not doing the kind of work it wants.

Perhaps in the case of philosophers, religious teachers and poets, this does not hold completely. There are exceptions to every rule. But the majority of mankind would not be of service to their fellows unless they had to scratch around and make a living.

Useful service to your fellow men is at the bottom of most kinds of work.

It is the real reason why we enjoy work. Most of us would not be winning to take a tin cup and beg money on the corner. We like to feel that we are doing something that is worth people's paying for.

This is at the basis of self-respect. Mr. Henry Ford claims that he does not give much to charity, but he is kindest to people when he provides them with opportunity for work and pays them good wages. It is a question whether this kind of service to the community is not better than accumulating money any old way and then giving it without return.

The average man does not want charity. All he works for is to be of service and to receive that pay for it which is commensurate.

Money, therefore, and the desire to make it is at the basis of true morality.

So much so that when a man has reformed, or is good in every other respect, but has no money sense, he is not yet dependable. One of the surest signs of reform, or righteousness, is that a man pays his debts and respects his obligations.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

If one, who loves to read Shakespeare for the pure joy of it, were asked to point out the special features in which Shakespeare's plays are transcendently excellent, he probably would mention a long others, this—that his stories are not put together, and his characters are not conceived, to illustrate any particular law or principle.

They teach many lessons, but not any one prominent above another; and when they have drawn from them all the direct instruction they contain, there remains something unresolved—something which the artist gives, and the philosopher and the moralist cannot give.

It is in this characteristic that persons who really know Shakespeare are accustomed to say Shakespeare's supreme truth lies. He represents real life.

"Shakespeare's drama teaches as life teaches,—neither less nor more," comments James Anthony Froude.

He builds his fabrics, as Nature does, on right and wrong; but he does not struggle to make Nature more systematic than she is.

"In the subtle flow of good and evil; in the unmerited sufferings of innocence; in the disproportion of penalties to desert; in the seeming blindness with which justice, in attempting to assert itself, overwhelms innocence and guilt in a common ruin—Shakespeare is true to real experience.

"The mystery of life he leaves as he finds it; and, in his most tremendous positions, he is addressing rather the intellectual emotions than the understanding—knowing well that the understanding in such things is at fault and the sage as ignorant as the child."

Only the highest order of genius can represent Nature thus.

An inferior artist produces something either entirely immoral, where good and evil are names, and nobility of disposition is supposed to show itself in the absolute disregard of them, or else, if he is a better kind of man, he will force on nature a didactic purpose; he composes what are called moral tales, which may edify the conscience, but only mislead the intellect.

Here you have the difference between good literature and poor writing.

Along about the middle of the nineteenth century Froude advanced the opinion that the finest "moral tale" of "modern times" is Lessing's play, Nathan the Wise.

The object of it is to teach religious toleration. The doctrine is admirable, the mode in which it is enforced is interesting; but it has the fatal fault that it is not true.

"Nature does not teach religious toleration by such direct method; and the result is that the play is not poetry, only splendid manufacture.

"Shakespeare is eternal; Lessing's 'Nathan' will pass away with the mode of thought which gave it birth. One is based on fact; the other on human theory about fact. The theory seems at first sight to contain the most immediate instruction; but it is not really so."

Timely Views

Richard Washburn Child, writer, traveler and diplomat, pointed out in a statement recently, the advantages, as he sees them, of the two-party system of government in the United States over the multi-party system of Europe.

Child was American ambassador to Italy from 1921 to 1924.

"The recent difficulties of the French and German governments to keep ministries in power long enough to accomplish any results have now been capped by inability to even form ministries. Under the continental system of democracy, particularly since a so-called peace which attempted to stamp the name 'democracy' on peoples who were neither enthusiastic for the brand nor practiced in the application of democracy, the failure of some parliamentary governments to govern at all, sticks out as Europe's sore thumb."

50 Parties in Election

There were more than half a hundred parties in the last German elections. If any result of any kind was made plain, it was that the people of Germany wanted a liberal and republican rather than a saber-rattling government. Such was the clear expression of the majority. But the complexities of a many-party system, its jealousies, its scrambling for power, the intrigue of petty minorities, prevented the forming of a government which would express the declared will of the people.

In our own two-party system there will always be clamorous minorities who say that our government is not responsive. Look back on the last ten years and ask yourself what reforms which have proved worthy have not been put into effect. We get our way in America under the two-party system, and that way in the end is the will of the majority.

"But, in Europe, where many minorities are organized into par-not only does the minority fail to get its way, but the majority—the tax-paying, worthy citizenry—fails also to get its way or to have consistent administration, or even to have a government which will carry on decently.

Sometimes the organized minorities obtain something. Who pays for what they get? The majority pays. Then another organized minority blackmails the government and perhaps gets something. The platter is passed until there is nothing left on it and then government breaks down. The majority pays and pays and pays all the way along.

"In all democracies of the world the organized minority is the menace of democracy. The organized minority always presents its claim under the banner of benevolence, humanity, goodness, kindness and virtue. But it is the majority-man who pays through the nose for all of it. No one has yet devised a government where it is possible to take out more than is put in."

MOTHER HONORED IN PASTOR'S TALK

Rev. Thomas Tells of Great Love Next to God as Parent's Faith

"Motherhood and Manhood" was the sermon for Mother's Day at Grand View Community church delivered by Rev. George W. Thomas, pastor. He said: "It is Mother's Day, and all over the land men and women are remembering, blessing and honoring the name of Mother. Why? Because, save the names of the God we worship there is no other name in Heaven above or earth beneath so sacred as her's. Because there is nowhere on earth a man so low or lost that the memory of his mother, if he truly had a mother, does not come upon him like a benediction to bless and to comfort in some deep hour. Because when we are talking about real, true, consecrated, Christian motherhood, we are talking holy things of the spirit."

"The Holy Spirit comes upon every mother who goes with consecrated steps down into that valley of pain and mystery where swing the wondrous gates of life and death. She passes through the swinging gates and returns, bringing back life. For sometimes she does not return, but sends back life and stays herself on that other side. She is the keeper of life's greatest temple of mystery. Truly, she 'keepeth all these things in her heart,' and we must honor and bless and reverence when we see the woman in mother-heart revealed in her home and in her children."

Mother's Face
"It was in mother's face that we first saw God. It was not hard for us to understand who Jesus is, for we had seen His smile in hers and we grew to know them together, and God the Father and our own fathers drew near to us through her and Him. We saw from her face that it was love, food flowing from a heart of love. She taught us to love our infant prayers, and guided our tottering footsteps. Through all the days of our pilgrimage we shall be her children, unforgotten and beloved, and when her weary hands are crossed in rest, her spirit will watch us forever from the skies; her spirit will be ever reaching out to shelter and redeem. God came to us through our mothers, and our mothers came back to us through God. God could not make Himself permanently visible to men in the flesh, nor be physically present with us, so He gave us mothers to interpret to us His emotions and experiences and reveal to us in living flesh the loving care of the God in whom we live and move and have our being. "God bless our mothers! In infancy we fed upon their breasts; in maturity we fed upon their hearts. There is only one answer we can make to them, and that answer is manhood in men and womanhood in women that shall be worthy of what God and good mothers plan."

God Bless Mother
"God bless our mothers! Where are they this morning? To those of us who wear the white carnation, mother sleeps beneath the silent clouds of the valley in some remembered land of home, but their spirits watch us from the skies of a father's home. Oh men grown up, strong men, does the longing for the touch of mother's hand and the sweetness of her care come back to you today? Does your heart reach out to her across the years? What would you say and do now if you had opportunity once more? What did you say and do when you had opportunity? God grant it gives you joy to remember it now."

"But the greatest thing of all is still to do and say, to build a manhood worthy of her now and by and bye to show it in her in that land where nothing but holiness can live and say, 'Mother, I built this for you.' Make your heart like the carnation you wear today and offer that to mother in the garden where flowers never fade."

Mother Love
"But some of us, thank God, still have opportunity to do and say what we wish for her here. We wear the red carnation as a symbol of the life tide that still flows bright through mother's heart. Perhaps, oh fortunate son, your mother sits beside you. What are you doing for her now? What kind of things do you say to her now? How much do they mean? Mother loves you just as much as she would if she were dead or dying. Appreciate her as deeply as you would try to do if you knew you would never see her again on earth. Get close to her now. Rejoice in her nearness and make her rejoice in your manhood. Break through your hindering reserve and say now the things you will wish you had said after she is gone."

"There is too much sentimentality that oftentimes is merely driven about dead mothers, too little true appreciation of living ones. 'Tis a world of strong men, able to do deeds, live lives, render service. Only manly deeds, noble lives, and reverent service are worthy to be offered on the shrine of motherhood. Make your offering worthy and make it!"

Still With You
"If mother is still with you, thank God, take courage, and let her know she helps you on and up. If she is far away, but still in the body, write, write the soul of your manhood to her and let her know. God pity the men whose false sentimentality makes flowers a mockery, whose vices shame mother's sacrifice, and whose coldness and ingratitude bow her lonely gray head to the grave."

REV. LIVINGSTON TALKS ON SUNDAY

Casa Verdugo Pastor Takes For Subject Laudation Of Mothers' Day

Rev. J. C. Livingston of Casa Verdugo Methodist church spoke at the special services honoring Mother's day, on "Baskets Among the Bulrushes," based on the story of Moses, harking back to days of slavery, when the question of an alien people caused uneasiness and invoked an order for the destruction of infant life on the banks of the Nile. He said:

"The matter had resolved itself in the problem of one mother and one babe. Once on the banks of the Nile and once on the shores of the Mediterranean; and through all the great crises of history, it has been the office of the mother to push her tender offspring from the shore on the stream of life; and she should have the privilege of saying what should be the future course of the basket."

"In the affairs of men should not the one who makes the greatest sacrifice have a voice in saying whether on the fields of carnage or by the fireside, we shall solve the problems of the world?"

Need Mother's Day
"We need Mother's day to remind us of the power that is destined to control during the coming ages; the greatest asset given us today is in the basket to be pushed out in life's rushes; and the cry from the basket among the rushes is the same the world around; the challenge to the world is the same voice, the voice of the babe is the voice of God, whether it is heard from the banks of the Congo or the Amazon; for everywhere childhood involves motherhood; brings back the words 'Behold Thy Mother.'"

"The Song My Mother Sang"
was sung by Mrs. R. D. Jones; My Mother's voice; by a quartet consisting of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cotton, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Jones.

United Brethren Hear 'Mother's Day' Talk

Mrs. Spencer delivered a Mother's Day sermon yesterday morning at the United Brethren in Christ church, corner of Justin avenue and Fifth street. The evening service was a program presented by the young people.

Mrs. Becker Preaches On Study From Bible

Mrs. Adaline Becker gave an address on Bible interpretations yesterday morning at the services of New Thought Center held at Hahn's hall.

Mother doesn't expect you to be a saint, she expects you to be a man, and if you have so far failed to be what mother and God expect they'll both forgive you and help you if you'll be honest and square and willing to begin again.

"We haven't yet made the world what God and mothers plan, but the world is getting honest with itself and beginning to see things, like a man who has wandered and sinned. And the greatest glory of this Mother's Day is that in so many lands and so many ways, husbands and sons have placed the pen in mother's hand and bidden her to write anew the laws of life and peace, out of her heart of wisdom and of love. Deeds of creative experience have enabled her to build and not to destroy. Schooling of pain and sacrifice has put into her lips the soul of kindness. What kind of world would it be if God and good mothers had their way? Let us live to make it after that pattern. That is the full answer of manhood to motherhood. 'Woman, behold thy son; son, behold thy mother.'"

TROPICO PASTOR PRAISES MOTHER

Dr. Winnard Of Presbyterian Church Pays Tribute To Parent's Love

The Mothers' Day sermon preached yesterday at Tropico Presbyterian church by Dr. James F. Winnard was called "Mothers of Men." He said: "It has always seemed to me that Mothers' Day was a wonderful opportunity for something more than sweet-sounding phrases of sentimental gush, but rather the presentation of a real message from God's Word to the mothers of men. And if I can today be the means of causing one mother to go home with a higher sense and appreciation of her divine calling I shall not have spoken in vain."

The world of today needs men. Men of integrity in business, men of honor in society, and men of deep consecration and piety in religion. But, before we can have these men, we must have mothers. I speak not of that high and holy ministry committed to motherhood. 'A Charge to Keep I Have' was not written with mothers in mind, but no sentiment can be more true. And, sacred as I consider my office as a Gospel minister, I surrender all claims to the pre-eminence of my office to the sacred calling of motherhood. How can a true mother be anything but a Christian? She cannot. True, there are women who bear children and regard them as a curse, and not a blessing, but to them the name of 'mother' is a misnomer."

Mother's Influence
"The influence of a true mother is the greatest human influence in the world. It begins earlier, is more continuous, lasts longer than any other. Pre-natal influence of the mother on the coming child is beyond measure, and from nature's mysterious processes the child partakes largely of the temperamental nature and disposition of the mother. Some call it heredity. But call it, rather, 'Motherhood's Responsibility.'"

"All the sin and woe and misery in this life are ours because the tendency thereto is transmitted to us through the ordinary processes of generation from Adam until now. But it lies in the Christian mother to greatly lessen this evil. Was it an accident that Samuel became the man of God he was? Was he not asked of God, and before his birth, was he not dedicated to God, and when he was born, was he not 'loaned to the Lord as long as he should live?'"

Life of Samuel
"As natural as it is for a kernel of wheat to produce its kind, so was the life of Samuel. Nursed at the mother's bosom, the character and nature of the mother becomes a part of the character and nature of the child to whom she gives, not merely life, but her life. And, as years come and go, it is the mother that gives first direction to the little feet and the childish mind. It is the mother who selects the food, the clothing, the associates, the school. But often the same mother leaves all spiritual direction to such a time as the child shall be able to choose for himself. What folly!"

"What, then, does God expect of the mothers of men? That you shall bring up your children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord? And how can a mother do this except she herself be Christian? As well expect an ignorant to teach Greek or a pauper to endow a college. So, back of the training of the child lies the character of the mother. And back of the character of the mother is the character of the mother's mother. It is the character of the mother's mother, of men and in you, the mothers of men and today, lies the character of generations as yet unborn."

Sins of the Father
"The sins of the white man and the black may be almost forgotten. Their offspring may have been as free and fair as a Saxon, when suddenly there is born to them a child with a skin as black as night. And then men know again that the sins of the father are visited upon the children unto the third and fourth generations."

"God expects the child (His gift) to be trained. And child training is a function of the home. Grace before meals, family worship, these all enter in. True, all this is the father's privilege, but when the father falls short of his priesthood it becomes the mother's duty. The home alone can offset all the outside influences that seek to draw your child away. And carelessness in home training is largely responsible for the child being drawn away."

"What some mothers are thinking of is beyond me. But I ask you mothers to think and pray and act. Go home today to pray for, and then with your children, and in the name of God, who committed them to your trust, do what in you lies to bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord."

"It is motherhood that will make Glendale not merely the 'Fastest Growing City in America,' but what is far more important, 'A Clean City Kept Clean.'"

DR. FUNK EXTOLS MOTHER DEVOTION

First Lutheran Pastor Tells Of 'The Magdalene' As Fine Example

"The Magdalene," or "The Beauty of a Grateful Disposition" was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday by Dr. H. C. Funk, pastor of First Lutheran church, who said:

"The Mary of our lesson is not to be identified with the woman who was a sinner, as some suppose. No, our Mary was foremost among a noble and honorable group of women that followed the Savior and ministered to Him. She was also one of those faithful women who accompanied Jesus on His last journey from Galilee to Jerusalem, witnessing both His crucifixion and His burial. She was early at the tomb that Sunday morning to anoint His body. Moreover, she was the first to recognize her Lord and to cast herself at His feet in adoration. "The manner of her life is beautifully set forth in these suggestive lines: 'Not she with traitorous kiss her Master stung, Not she denied Him with unfaithful tongue. She, when apostles fled, could dangers brave; last at His cross and earliest at His grave.'"

"As touching Mothers' day, permit me to say, I have known some women whose patient, loving ministry has brought to my mind a picture of the Master as He went about the sea of Galilee."

"That's Mother"
"Smiling and grateful for the humblest service rendered; that's mother. Cheerfully doing the things that others have been inclined to neglect; that's mother. Working four hours a day over union time and girding herself with a towel to wash the feet of the guests that were not worthy to cross her threshold; that's mother. Stopping in her busiest hour to mend a jacket or a catcher's mitt for a boy who has done nothing but play; or stopping to sew on a bit of lace or to adjust a gown for a girl that is having such a wonderful time that she can't stop, who must go out again at night and must have a still more gorgeous gown; that's mother."

"Yes, staying home that others may enjoy themselves; denying herself needed rest and comfort for those who so often forget to say 'thank you'; that's mother. No, we do not approve of placing any woman on a pedestal, even the virgin Mary, but we do honor father and mother every day of our lives."

RELIEF FUND FOR TORNADO VICTIMS

Glendadians Donate $538.25 For Aid Of Persons In Five States

Tornado victims in Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee received $538.25 from residents of Glendale, the amount of the relief fund collected by The Glendale Evening News and forwarded to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce for distribution in the storm-stricken area. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, at the start of the campaign to raise a relief fund, was designated as the official agency for Southern California.

Emerson Spear, president of the junior division of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, in acknowledging receipt of the third check forwarded by The Glendale Evening News as part of the contributions, writes this paper: "We received your third check of $131. This brings the total subscriptions from the citizens of Glendale up to $538.25, a very appreciable amount, and I would again like to thank you and the residents of your city for your highly commendable efforts and cooperation."

Many Contributed
The first amount forwarded by The Glendale Evening News soon after the tornado had taken its toll of lives in five states was $132.25. Several days later the sum of $275 was sent to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and after the subscriptions had been received and the fund closed the final amount of $131 was forwarded to Los Angeles. Contributions to the fund raised in Glendale came from people in all walks of life and the sums donated varied from 25 cents to $50. Donations were made by individuals, clubs, lodges and business firms. All contributions were publicly acknowledged in the columns of The Glendale Evening News as they were received at the office of this paper.

REV. COLE SPEAKS OF MOTHER LOVE

Central Christian's Pastor In Sermon Appropriate To Parent's Devotion

Rev. Clifford A. Cole, pastor of Central Christian church delivered a "Mother's day sermon yesterday morning, saying:

"There is an old legend like this: An angel came down to earth and looked the world over for something to carry back to heaven. He started back to the glory-land with a bouquet of fragrant flowers, a baby's smile and a mother's love. Before he reached the gates of paradise the flowers withered; the baby's smile had vanished; only the mother's love remained the same. "There's nothing on earth pure enough for heaven but a mother's love," runs the legend."

"The far-away legend is not over extravagant in its statement. If honor is due any woman you and I have known it is due our mother. The Chinese have a custom that would do credit to the Christian people. New Year's morning each man and boy, from the head of the nation to the lowliest peasant, pays a visit to his mother. He carries her a present, thanks her for all she has done for him, and asks the continuance of her favor for another year. This is really the thought contained in observing this second Sunday in May as Mother's day."

Reason for Love
"I say to you mothers today that the chiefest reason we honor you as we do is because of your faith and of your contribution to the world. You have made the men of this world. No man ever lived a right life who was not chastened by a woman's love, strengthened by her courage, and guided by her discretion. The best dressed women today are the women dressed for a woman's service."

"The modern woman is the sewing, cooking, healing, motherly woman. This woman has been the broadest woman. My conviction is that the modern mother is by far the best mother the world has known. With a better knowledge, as great a faith and a hundred helps she will wear the greatest race the world has ever seen."

Foundation of Mankind
"Motherhood as the foundation of mankind was well recognized by Theodore Roosevelt when he gave us this remarkable utterance: 'When all is said, it is the mother, who is a better citizen than the soldier who fights for his country. The successful mother, the mother who does her part in rearing and training aright the boys and girls who are to be the men and women of the next generation, is of greater use to the community, and occupies, if she only would realize it, a more honorable as well as a more important position than any man in it. The mother is the one supreme figure in national life; she is more important by far than the successful statesman, or business man, or artist or scientist.'"

"Let us honor our mothers by being the kind of men and women, boys and girls, our mothers think we are; by showing her our affection, or if she be gone, by bestowing that affection upon another mother who may have fallen upon a day of helplessness and need. Let us give honor to whom honor is due."

RELIGION TAKEN AS SUNDAY TALK

St. Mark's Pastor Tells Way To Righteousness In Sermon Yesterday

"Religion Is the Way of Righteousness" was the sermon delivered yesterday by Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church. He said:

"Prophecy and teachers throughout human history have spoken of religion as the way of righteousness; it is a road we travel along towards the goal of life. The way travel along that road like you like men and women, see evidences of men adopting both standards of life. To live like men we must serve God with a very definite kind of life. Our vows at confirmation remind us of the great contrast that has been present in the minds of men since the dawn of the Christian era that there is the world and there is the way of Christ."

New Testament
"The New Testament writers saw life much more clearly than we do in what we are pleased to call a more civilized era. There was the power of things, material things and the life of pleasure and happiness these bring on the one hand and the power of the Spirit on the other. One was continually warring against the other. The good Christian had to keep himself from becoming contaminated in the life of material things. The world was warring against God. The writer of the Epistle which we attribute to Peter gave the advice that we should sanctify the Lord God in our hearts as the best means of avoiding the pitfalls of the world."

"This is what Jesus asks us to do; give ourselves to God in the life of righteousness. The first decision that a Christian is called upon to make is shall he use his life for a selfish purpose or for God. The effect of either life is left upon our character. Like a life of sin which leaves its influence upon us so the life of well-doing gives us an indelible impress. "People will judge us by our actions even more widely than by our words. Even those taken under oath do not always seem very binding but what we do reveals our character. St. Paul writes of the spiritual equipment alone mentions as an offensive weapon the sword of the Spirit which is the Word of God. This was the great weapon of Jesus who fought for the Kingdom of righteousness by word and by deed; one bore the impress of the other."

"So our warfare in the moral and spiritual sphere must be of this sort. What kind of a life are we seeking to live? Jesus set before us the way of righteousness and established it in the hearts of men by His ability to change the lives of men and women. Today to be confirmed is not a mere gesture of convention, but a result of conviction that Christ has the way of righteousness."

Learn Christ
"To learn Christ is to practice self-denial for Him. Such self-denial and devotion as we are giving mute testimony to in our observance of Mothers' day. The very name stirs in our hearts the thought of sacrifice that a true mother gives for her children. There was a tenderness about Christ that was akin to a mother's love. One may never know the sacrifice that she makes to the rising generation. "This spirit of service may well symbolize our Christian service. It is not in the blare of trumpets that Christ is taught but in the life of humble service such as the thought of our mothers brings to our minds sanctifying in our hearts the high calling of Christ to serve Him not only in word but in deed as in season and out we seek to draw men and women. His banner of love and devotion for the life of the Spirit which is the life with God."

HINDENBURG WAS SET FOR GALLOWES

Man Who Will Take Highest German Honor In Few Days Once Condemned

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—It is rather an ironic turn of fate that the man to become president of the German republic tomorrow (Tuesday) was No. 2 on the list of those the allies pledged themselves to hang.

The Kaiser, Wilhelm, was No. 1. He was indicted and arraigned by judges, one appointed by each of the following powers: namely, the United States of America, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

It was agreed that Holland should be requested to surrender the one time Kaiser. The request was refused, and if the truth be known, the allies breathed easier. The "associated powers" merely unofficially observed the proceedings.

Hindenburg Listed

It was article 228 of the treaty, however, which was directed against Von Hindenburg and some of his assistants. It provided that the German government should recognize the right of the Allied and associated powers to bring before military tribunal all persons accused of having committed acts in violation of the laws and customs of war.

Von Hindenburg, head of the "great German general staff," was so accused. He was accused of instigating poison gas and of bombing cities and of every crime under the calendar of war.

The Versailles treaty gravely provided that "in every case the accused will be entitled to name his own counsel." That was term no one seems to know—or to care. Yet it is easy to recall the days in London when "hang the Kaiser" was a popular song and theme. They even sold on the streets miniature gallows with a figure of the Kaiser well within the loop. The English people were promised the Kaiser should die. Whenever British morale got low, the higher and higher they hanged the Kaiser.

And the treaty of peace, in article 227, solemnly declared: "The allied and associated powers (the associated powers being supposedly the United States) publicly arraign Wilhelm II of Hohenzollern, formerly German emperor, for a supreme offense against international morality and the sanctity of the treaties."

A special tribunal will be constituted to try the accused, thereby assuring him the guarantees essential to the right of defense. It will be composed of five judges, one appointed by each of the following powers: namely, the United States of America, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

In its decision the tribunal will be guided by the highest motives of international policy, with a view to vindicating the solemn obligations of international undertakings and the validity of international morality. It will be its duty to fix the punishment which it considers should be imposed.

regarded as a great concession to the accused. But "the accused" were never surrendered, never brought to trial, and early next week one of the most heavily "accused" will be elevated to the highest office at present within the gift of the German people. Such is the irony of a few short years.

ENGLISH WOMAN DENIES CHARGES

British Delegate to Council Calls Propaganda Hint For League 'Rubbish'

By RIZPATH MITCHELL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—An outstanding figure among the foreign delegates attending the International Council of Women now in session here is Mrs. George Morgan, president of the British Women's Council and selected as leading speaker for the big open meeting to be held May 13.

Mrs. Morgan has the distinction of heading the largest of the foreign delegations and at the same time being the most youthful looking woman who have attained to such dignity. When asked by the writer if there was any truth in the charge made by certain American women that the British delegation was here to put over propaganda for the League of Nations, Mrs. Morgan answered with an emphatic: "Rubbish."

"Of course, I have read the charges," she added, "but they haven't the slightest foundation in fact. The British women's council was formed 35 years ago when a league of nations was but a vague vision in the minds of a few idealists. The women's councils in all the countries are the result of the realization by social workers that they could not get better conditions for women and children through isolated efforts."

"Horribly Poor Taste"
"Of course, all but three of the thirty-five nations represented here at the International Council are members of the league, and doubtless they would all be glad to welcome the United States as a member of the league. But we would think it horribly poor taste to come here and discuss the merits of the league or put over any kind of propaganda."

Mrs. Morgan paused for breath and a bit of refreshment, for she had granted the interview while having a hurried luncheon between two important meetings. She never lost for a moment her calm poise, though frequently interrupted by delegates from Canada, Australia and South Africa, who, though they have separate councils, seemed to turn naturally to Mrs. Morgan for advice. These women were all familiar with the important work she is doing in Great Britain, not only as president of the women's council, but as an officer in the British council of churches, a settlement worker and a lecturer on various social reforms.

"Please remember," Mrs. Morgan concluded, "the chief concern of the women of the international council is bettering conditions for all the women and children of all lands. In doing it we are getting better acquainted and lessening chances of international misunderstanding. In that way we work for world peace but, we have no pacifist propaganda which the United States needs to fear. If we had, would we have put the meeting for discussion of world peace at the very close of our ten day program?"

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, May 11.—To gain funds to further the work of fully protecting the valley and adjacent regions, members of the Angeles Forest Protective association will hold the last dance of the season Thursday night at the Oakmont Country club. Tickets will be $1 each person. Especially fine music is promised for the occasion. Proceeds will be used for building fire trails, purchasing equipment and otherwise expediting the work of fighting forest fires.

"Mothers' Day" was appropriately observed in the Episcopal church of St. Luke's of the Mounts and in the Community church yesterday. In the former the children were presented with carnations at Sunday school for their mothers, while the Community church held special services and special music was given by the choir, under the leadership of Allen MacDaniels.

Members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Community church attended a party given in their honor Saturday, at the Glendale home of W. Helmer, who is president of the organization.

Highway Highlands Tuesday Afternoon club will meet tomorrow afternoon in the club rooms with Mrs. Emory Tate and Mrs. Roy Johnson as hostesses. More members are added to the already large membership of the Crescenda Valley Masons' club at each meeting held in the Highway Highlands club rooms. An exceptionally large attendance was had at last week's meeting. The next meeting will be held on May 19.

Mrs. Charles Turk, president of the Crescenda Valley Women's club announces a meeting for Wednesday, when the American Citizenship section with Mrs. Alice Singleton, curator, will be in charge. Through the efforts of Mrs. G. George, program chairman, a speaker of note, has been procured for the afternoon and will talk on subjects pertaining to the betterment of citizenship. Announcement will be made of the proceeds from the music section's concert given under direction of Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald. This section wishes to express its appreciation to Young's Hardware store for the use of the special lights which added materially to their program. The meetings will be held as usual in the Crescenda school, but it is virtually certain the members will hold their installation of officers in the new house which will be completed by that time.

Be Honest With Your Conscience and Trade at Home

How much does the out-of-town merchant spend to help Glendale? How much interest have the big department stores of Los Angeles in Glendale aside from getting the people's money? Positively none. What interest have the newspapers of Los Angeles in Glendale other than to build up large circulations so they can charge their advertisers higher rates? None whatever. And why are the big stores ready to pay the high advertising rates to get into the homes of Glendale? To get the money. Transactions between Glendale people and out-of-town stores are all one-sided. A popular phrase is very apt here: "Everything going out; nothing coming in."

What does the out-of-town merchant do for Glendale? Nothing. Compare him with your home merchant. He is interested in the things that concern you. He is paying out money to others in the community for the thousand and one things that he needs to run his business and his home. He is helping to build up the community of which you are a part, every minute of the day. He is running a business on a scale commensurate with the support he receives and is helping to keep things moving in Glendale.

Be honest with your conscience and give your support to the merchant who is helping you. It is to your own interest to co-operate with the home business man.

Empire Lighting Fixture Company

Grand Opening, May 12

The New Atwater Plant and Display Rooms of the Empire Lighting Fixture Co., Owned by John F. Mortensen.

The Empire Lighting Co., largest ornamental electric fixtures concern in Southern California, will formally open its new plant and display rooms at 3160 Glendale boulevard tomorrow. In the new plant, John F. Mortensen, sole proprietor, will conduct both the manufacture and sale of fixtures, and the Los Angeles Electrical Construction Co. for wiring and general electrical contracting. The display rooms of the Empire Lighting Co. at 4605 Beverly boulevard, will continue as a branch of the new Atwater plant. The new building, comprising 12,000 square feet of floor space, combined with the Beverly boulevard branch with a floor space of 10,000 square feet, is the largest electrical fixtures concern in the southwest. Fifty men will be employed at the Atwater plant from the outset. This number will be increased as additional business warrants. With the formal opening of the new plant tomorrow, Glendale will be given an opportunity to view the fixture works as the guests of Mr. Mortensen. To entertain his visitors, Mr. Mortensen has arranged an elaborate program, featuring Rogers' Hawaiians, radio artists, who will play throughout the day and again in the evening. A special feature of the opening will be the unveiling of two large wrought-iron light standards, made especially for the front porch of the Oakmont Country club. The standards are the gift of Mr. Mortensen, a member, to the Oakmont club. A large number of the members are expected to witness the unveiling and presentation of the lights. The formal opening of the fixture store tomorrow will usher in a week's introduction sale during which high-class light fixtures of all kinds will be offered to patrons at greatly reduced prices. A feature of the sale will be 500 wrought-iron bridge lamps with hand-painted parchment shades, having a retail value of $15. These lamps will be sold tomorrow complete for $5. To every customer making a purchase amounting to $50, one of these lights will be given away free.

Mr. Mortensen, sole owner of the new concern, has been a resident of Glendale for 8 years, living at 522 West Lexington drive. He is an extensive property owner in this city. A large percentage of the men employed at the Atwater plant are Glendale residents also. The new fixtures concern on Glendale boulevard, including the property, building and stock, represents an investment of approximately $100,000. Mr. Mortensen estimated. In the display rooms are hung over 700 fixtures, 550 of these being wired and lighted for demonstrating purposes. On the front of the building is a huge, electrically-lighted sign with a big red arrow 48 feet in length. The arrow, emblazoned in red lights, points to a sign 60 feet in length bearing the words, Empire Lighting Co. The sign is said to be one of the most unique ever built. Mr. Mortensen was induced to bring his plant to Atwater Park through the efforts of H. R. MacNair, realty broker, and P. E. Lipscomb, manager of the Arthur M. Gilman Co., realtors and builders. The Gilman Co. built the building.

Many Firms Co-operated in Building New Home of The Empire Lighting Fixture Co.

Atwater Realty Man
Sold Building Site

When John F. Mortensen decided to expand his electrical fixture concern, he considered no less than eight locations for his new plant. It was H. R. Macnair, well known real estate broker, with offices at 3114 Glendale boulevard, who brought Mr. Mortensen to the Atwater district.

Mr. Macnair succeeded in showing the owner of the fixture plant the advantages of boulevard frontage in the district, lying as it does mid-way between Glendale and Los Angeles, and accessible from all directions.

"I believe the arguments that brought Mr. Mortensen to Atwater Park should bring many more business and light manufacturing concerns and should likewise prove interesting to home seekers who want to be out of Los Angeles, yet near enough to enjoy the advantages of the city," Mr. Macnair said. Mr. Macnair specializes in homes, lots and business properties. He has been an extensive real estate operator in the Atwater district and has a reputation for integrity and fair dealing among his clients.

Lumber Furnished by Burbank Lumber Co.

The Gilman Co. specializes in residence properties, business frontage and both residence and business building. Cabin sites on the Rim of the World route and farm lands in parcels of 10 acres or more are also handled by the concern.

The Gilman offices are located at 3218 Glendale boulevard, at present under the management of P. E. Lipscomb. Mr. Gilman contemplates moving his head office from Los Angeles in the near future and devoting his whole time to Atwater business. Remodeling of the Gilman offices on Glendale boulevard, to afford greater space for increased realty activities, is under way at present.

Panoramic View of Atwater District Shows Wonderful View of Prosperous Community

Here is a panoramic view of the Atwater district south of Glendale. The district boasts a population of 7500 persons, has more than 125 business houses, half a dozen light industrial plants, churches, schools and every convenience of community life. By June 1 all streets, sidewalks and a complete sewer system will be installed. The district has grown from a Japanese flower garden with but a few scattered families to its present proportions within a period of four years, meriting the distinction of being one of the fastest progressing communities in Los Angeles county. Immediately adjoining Glendale, the Atwater district is a pleasing neighbor. This picture is from a photograph taken by Dolberg Studios. Glendale is proud to notice the growth of the Atwater district and to know that the attractive community is in a prosperous condition and making plans for many civic improvements.

Decker's Atwater Realty Office Headquarters for Big Deals

Clayton S. Decker, realty broker at 3178 Los Feliz boulevard "knows the Atwater tract." That is the recommendation of his friends to those seeking advice on real estate. Mr. Decker has operated extensively in Atwater residential property for several years and is considered an authority on where and what to buy. This experience and knowledge he offers to his clients.

The Clayton S. Decker real estate office at the corner of Glendale and Los Feliz boulevards is known throughout the sections as the "white spot of the Atwater district."

"Hundreds of satisfied customers is my greatest ad," Mr. Decker said. You can own a home in the Atwater district, near to Los Angeles and Glendale alike, and pay like rent. Why not own a home in this best of the high-class residential sections of greater Los Angeles, where property values are constantly advancing and building activity is the greatest of any section of the city?"

ATWATER STREETS SOON TO BE PAVED

An Asphaltic Type of National Pavement To Be Used

A number of streets in the Atwater district, soon to be improved, will be paved with National Pavement, an asphaltic type of street, especially designed to absorb the shock of the impact of traffic. It is claimed for National paving that it is the only pavement that cannot be broken down by blows from heavy vehicles, its component parts being so intricately united that separation by mechanical means is impossible.

The pavement has been widely used in the east and middle west and is being used in California very extensively. Venice, Culver City, Watts, Burbank, Glendale, Los Angeles, Maywood, Hermosa Beach, Oakland, Richmond, and county streets being paved with it at the present time.

National Pavement is recognized by federal government engineers who have adopted it as one of the standard pavements used by them. A cut, showing National Pavement, is shown elsewhere in this section.

RADIO MESSAGE

Mrs. Ella W. Richardson of 317 North Brand boulevard will give a message tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock over radio station KNX. Mrs. Richardson will have a special message which will be of interest to radio fans who know the announcer, the Hired Hand, of station KNX.

A moving picture theatre in New York has installed a radio apparatus for deaf persons who desire to hear as well as see the program.

RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN LAST FOUR YEARS

District Expands From Japanese Flower Garden to Community Now Having Population of 7,500 Persons

The growth of the Atwater district from a flower garden in 1922 to a thriving community of 8,000 population in 1925 has been unsurpassed by any other community in Southern California. The section has not only grown, but grown substantially. Where other new districts built up with shacks and meager homes, Atwater Park built just as rapidly, but into a community of fine homes and thriving businesses.

Although the actual history of the district dates back to 1912 when the first subdivision was placed on the market, into the last four years must be crowded the story of Atwater Park's growth from a farming community to the prosperous locality of today.

Only five houses existed in the tract between Glendale and Los Feliz boulevards, when 1921 opened. A few hundred people composed the entire population of the territory from Silverlake to Los Feliz boulevards.

Today the population of the same area is conservatively estimated at 7500 persons. There are more than 2500 residences, high class and desirable homes, in the district. One hundred dwellings are now actually under construction. More than 125 business houses serve the wants of the community, doing a flourishing trade from their locations along Glendale and Los Feliz boulevards. There are half a dozen light industrial plants in the district, furnishing employment for more than 300 persons in addition to the Tropic Pottery, within the boundaries of the community, an institution employing approximately 700 men all the year around.

Atwater's grammar school, now taxed to almost twice its normal capacity with an enrollment of 850 students, will shortly be enlarged to twice its present size and a spacious auditorium added at an expenditure of over $80,000. Plans for a second school, to be located in the northwest section of the tract are now being advocated.

Atwater Park boasts a church membership of more than 400 families.

Atwater Park is admirably located at the very focal point for traffic running in all directions to and from Los Angeles. As a result, it's two main arteries, Glendale boulevard and Los Feliz road have become important links in the highway system of Southern California. Recent checks made by the Automobile club

Builds New Office for Realty Business

"I am 100 per cent for the Atwater tract," Mr. Holcomb said, "and hope to be of service to people of the district in my new real estate enterprise."

Mr. Holcomb is an extensive property owner in the district and is identified with many community activities.

Plumbing Business Rapidly Growing

While it harkens back to bygone days "Tom & Jerry" is the name of an up-to-date plumbing establishment, located at 3131 Glendale boulevard. Jerry Maher, the genial proprietor, says that he uses no "seconds" in any of the jobs that he installs. This concern has been in the Atwater tract for the past three years, and has experienced a most unusual growth. Thompson Tubular water heaters, a Glendale product, are sold by the firm. "We give six months' free service on every job installed, and guarantee our work to be first class in every respect," Jerry Maher said.

ATWATER REALTY FIRM WELL KNOWN

Business Is Thoroughly Departmentized For Quick Service

J. V. Owens, realtor, now located in his own building at 3197 Glendale boulevard, has handled property for the Dickenson & Gallespi Co. during the subdivision of their five tracts in the Atwater section. A large portion of the 1,900 lots in the district sold by the Dickenson & Gallespi company were handled through Mr. Owens.

Now he is operating independently from offices in the Owens Block, corner of Edenhurst avenue and Glendale boulevard. Five salesmen, heading different departments of the business, are employed by Mr. Owens, caring for every branch of his large business.

The business has been thoroughly departmentalized, houses, lots, exchanges and building and financing being treated thoroughly in their respective departments. "Satisfaction and a square deal are our aims," Mr. Owens said. "We feel that organized as we are we can fill the needs of every client."

The HOUSE Of ARROW

A SERIAL STORY WRITTEN BY A. E. W. MASON
Protected by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

CHAPTER 1

Messrs. Frohisher & Haslitt, the solicitors on the east side of Russell Square, counted among their clients a great many who had undertakings established in France; and the firm was very proud of this branch of its business.

"It gives us a place in history," Mr. Jeremy Haslitt used to say. "For it dates from the year 1806, when Mr. James Frohisher, then our very energetic senior partner, organized the escape of hundreds of British subjects who were detained in France by the edict of the first Napoleon. The firm received the thanks of His Majesty's government and has been fortunate enough to retain the connection thus made. I look after that side of our affairs myself."

Mr. Haslitt's daily batch of letters, therefore, contained as a rule a fair number bearing the dark-blue stamp of France upon their envelopes. On this morning of early April, however, there was only one. It was addressed in a spidery, uncontrolled hand with which Mr. Haslitt was unfamiliar. But it bore the postmark Dijon, and Mr. Haslitt tore it open rather quickly. He had a client in Dijon, a widow, Mrs. Harlowe, of whose health he had had bad reports. The letter was certainly written from her house, La Maison Grenelle, but not by her. He turned to the signature.

"Waberski?" he said, with a frown. "Boris Waberski?" And then, as he identified his correspondent, "Oh, yes, yes."

He sat down in his chair and read. The first part of the letter was merely flowers and compliments, but half-way down the second page its object was made clear as glass. It was five hundred pounds. Old Mr. Haslitt smiled and read on, keeping up, whilst he read, a one-sided conversation with the writer.

"I have a great necessity of that money," wrote Boris, "and—" "I am quite sure of that," said Mr. Haslitt.

"My beloved sister, Jeanne-Marie," the letter continued. "Sister-in-law," Mr. Haslitt corrected.

"cannot live for long, in spite of all the care and attention I give to her," Boris Waberski went on. "She has left me, as no doubt you know, a large share of her fortune. Already, then, it is mine—yes? One may say so and be favorably understood. We must look at the facts with the eyes. Expedite me, then, by the recommended post a little of what is mine and agree my distinguished salutations."

Haslitt's smile became a broad grin. He had in one of his tin boxes a copy of the will of Jeanne-Marie Harlowe drawn up in due form by her French notary at Dijon, by which every farthing he possessed was bequeathed without condition to her husband's niece and adopted daughter, Betty Harlowe. Jeremy Haslitt almost destroyed that letter. He folded it; his fingers twitched at it; there was already actually a tear at the edges of the sheets when he changed his mind.

"No," he said to himself. "No! With the Boris Waberski one never knows," and he looked the letter away on a ledge of his private safe.

He was very glad that he had when, three weeks later, he read, in the obituary column of The Times, the announcement of Mrs. Harlowe's death, and received a big card with a very deep black border in the French style from Betty Harlowe inviting him to the funeral at Dijon. The invitation was merely formal. He could hardly have reached Dijon in time for the ceremony had he started off that instant. He contented himself with writing a few lines of sincere condolence to the girl, and a letter to the French notary in which he placed the services of the firm at Betty's disposal. Then he waited.

"I shall hear again from little Boris," he said, and he heard within the week. The handwriting was more spidery and uncontrolled than ever; hysteria and indignation had played havoc with Waberski's English; also he had doubled his demand.

"It is outside belief," he wrote. "Nothing has she left to her so attentive brother. There is something here I do not much like. It must be one thousand pounds now, by the recommended post. 'You have always had the world against you, my poor Boris,' she says with the tears all big in her dear eyes. 'But I make all right for you in my will.' And now nothing! I speak, of course, to my niece—ah, that hard one! She snap her fingers at me! Is that behaviour? One thousand pounds, mister! Otherwise there will be awkwardness! Yes! People do not snap them the fingers at Boris Waberski without the payment. So one thousand pounds by the recommended post or awkwardness"; and this time Boris Waberski did not invite Mr. Haslitt to agree any salutations, distinguished or otherwise, but simply signed his name with a straggling pen which shot all over the sheet.

Mr. Haslitt did not smile over this letter. He rubbed the palms of his hands softly together. "Then we shall have to make some awkwardness too," he said hastily, and he locked his second letter away with the first. But Mr. Haslitt found it a little difficult to settle to his work. There was that girl out there in the big house at Dijon and no one of her race near him! He got up from his chair abruptly and crossed the corridor to the offices of his junior partner.

"Jim, you were at Monte Carlo this winter," he said.

"For a week," answered Jim Frohisher.

"I think I asked you to call on a client of ours who has a villa there—Mrs. Harlowe."

Jim Frohisher nodded. "I did. But Mrs. Harlowe was ill. There was a niece, but she was out."

"You saw no one, then?" Jeremy Haslitt asked.

"No, that's wrong," Jim corrected. "I saw a strange creature who came to the door to make Mrs. Harlowe's excuses—a Russian."

"Boris Waberski," said Mr. Haslitt.

"That's the name."

"Mr. Haslitt sat down in a chair. 'Tell me about him, Jim.'"

Jim Frohisher stared at nothing for a few moments. He was a young man of 26, who had only during this last year succeeded in his partnership. Though quick enough when action was imperative, he was naturally deliberate in his estimates of other people's characters; and a certain awe he had of old Jeremy Haslitt doubled that natural deliberation in any matters of the firm's business. He answered at length.

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BAWLY'S BOAT

Bawly No Tail, the little frog brother of Bully, was playing near the edge of the pond, where Lulu, Alice and Jimmie Wiggleswobble, the duck children, paddled around and swam after school. Today there was no school for Bawly, the frog, who had that odd name because he used to make such a queer bawling sound of crying when he was a baby tadpole.

Bawly was jumping from a flat stone into the duck pond with jolly wet splashes. After he was in he would swim around and then crawl out on a big, broad green lily flower leaf or pad and sit blinking his eyes in the sun.

Once when Bawly crawled out on a large lily pad it broke loose from the long stem which grew up from the black mud at the bottom of the pond and the green, flat leaf went floating along, with Bawly perched on it.

Along the bank came running Weezie, the little girl rabbit, and behind her jumped her twin brother, Wizzie. They were looking for something to do to have fun, for they did not have to go to school, and when they saw Bawly floating on his leaf the little rabbits cried:

"Oh, Bawly, you have a green boat, haven't you?"

"Why, yes; you might call it a boat," croaked the frog boy.

"May we come on and have a ride?" asked Weezie. And before Bawly could say anything the two little rabbits had jumped from the bank and landed on Bawly's leaf boat. But no sooner had they done this than the leaf, not intended to carry so many, crumpled up and into the water splashed Bawly, Weezie and Wizzie.

"Oh, I'm all wet!" cried Weezie. "So am I!" said her brother Wizzie. Then they splashed their way to shore, for Bawly's leaf boat was not out very far in the pond, nor was the water deep. Bawly only laughed when he fell into the water.

Weezie and Wizzie did not like it so much. Frogs are intended to live in water at least half the time, but rabbits aren't.

However, when Weezie and Wizzie had dried their fur in the sun they laughed a little and then Wizzie said:

"I know how we can play a trick on Uncle Wiggily with Bawly's boat."

"How?" asked Weezie, always ready for a little mischief.

"We'll find our new daddy and tell him to come down and take a ride on Bawly's boat," said Wizzie. "He will see the floating leaf and jump on, just as we did. But the leaf won't hold him and he'll fall in the water, just as we did!"

"Oh, that'll be lots of fun!" laughed Weezie. "We'll go tell Uncle Wiggily Daddy about the boat he can ride on."

By this time Bawly had swam away to find his brother Bully. For if he had been there he would not have allowed a trick like this to be played on Uncle Wiggily. But Bawly was gone, though there was his big green leaf boat floating near shore. And when Uncle Wiggily hopped down to the edge of the pond, after Weezie and Wizzie called him, and when the bunny rabbit saw the leaf boat, the little bunnies cried:

"Jump on and have a ride, Daddy Uncle Wiggily! Get on Bawly's boat!"

Wishing to please the new little bunnies who had come to him with his new wife, Uncle Wiggily jumped on the leaf. Wizzie and Weezie were all ready to laugh, thinking they would see their daddy tumble into the water, but, to their great surprise, the leaf boat did not sink! It went floating about the pond like a raft, giving Uncle Wiggily a fine ride.

"Oh! Oh!" cried the mischievous little bunnies, "how is it you didn't fall off the leaf boat, daddy?"

"It's because I am holding the leaf up on my big broad back!" cried a voice, and from beneath the edge of the leaf a large mud turtle stuck his head. "I heard about the trick you two little tykes wanted to play," chuckled the turtle, "so I floated along, came up under the leaf beneath the water, and I held it from sinking down."

"That was very kind of you!" said Uncle Wiggily. "And to show that I forgive you, Weezie and Wizzie, come and have a ride with me." So the two little bunnies got on the mud turtle leaf boat, which didn't sink with them, and they had a fine ride around the duck pond.

And if the kitchen sink doesn't take a rib out of the umbrella to make a radio for the dumb waiter, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the old nest.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

DOWN! BY JUMPS

Jumping (rope or anything) is a most excellent exercise for weight reduction for those who can take strenuous exercises. But that kind of jumping is not the subject I'm going to write on today.

I want to give instructions to those of you who are desirous of weight reduction for those who have been reducing beautifully, after a certain point apparently becomes your maintenance diet and no weight is lost. Quite a number of you have been complaining of this peevish strike of the reducing diet. The reason is two-fold:

First, your system has accustomed itself to a lower intake of food for its needs. Second, there isn't so much excess fat to be burned off. Of course, there is always the possibility that you have dieted well for four or five days, and then have practically undone the effect by over-eating in one day, or even one meal. How about that? Of course, if this is done, you cannot expect to lose.

For those of you who are really conscientious—and for those of you who are not conscientious, too, for that matter—and who really find that the 1200 calories or so a day, which formerly reduced, cease to reduce you, I advise one very low calorie day a week rather than cutting down the daily calories still further. On this one very low calorie day, not exceeding 500 or 600 calories, you will find that you will lose a pound or so, and your weight line will go down in jumps, or like a stairs, rather than in a steady decline.

For this one low calorie day, you can take anything you like, but I advise skim or buttermilk or fruit juices. I recommend especially one quart of skim or buttermilk and 12 large dates. That will average 620 C. (300 for the milk and 300 for the dates). The dates will give a good supply of iron, which milk is deficient in. It is best to make four meals of that total amount during the day, taking one glass of milk and three dates at a meal.

Because the dates and milk will not furnish sufficient bulk, you had better take one-half cup of cereal bran which you can count about 35 to 50 calories. That will furnish more minerals and vitamins. If you do not like bran take three or four tablespoons of agar. You can take the bran or agar in one of the glasses of milk making a cereal of it. Pour hot water over the agar first. It really is quite palatable. It is a

After much observation I have come to the conclusion that the houseworker does more worrying than the office worker. I have been contrasting my businesswomen friends with my housekeeping friends and find that the latter are the more inclined to "cross bridges" which often never materialize. Perhaps the reason for this is that the office worker is surrounded by other workers, whereas the housekeeper generally has long hours alone about the house, while her husband, children or other members of the family are out. And being alone is conducive to introspection.

Now I do not mean that I think housework is unbecomingly tedious. On the other hand, I believe it is the best and most normal kind of work for a woman. There is a deep-rooted domesticity in every one of us which finds expression and satisfaction in housework. Also our hours spent working alone should be made beneficial by some real interest which we may think about, rather than let our mind turn to brooding analysis of our problems.

A BLACKHEAD PASTE

I have been experimenting with a rather drastic blackhead treatment with excellent results.
It takes blackheads from the skin
more quickly than the starch treatment, more quickly than the steaming and cleansing cream treatment. But if you try it, you must follow my directions very carefully, or your skin will be ruined instead of soothed. You also had better not try it if the skin is full of open pimples. Being rather powerful, you'll see an improvement after even one application.

Get a small can of any of the gritty, paste soaps used by mechanics, engineers, and so forth.
These are extraordinarily cleansing, also very drying, too strong,
as they come, to use on the skin of the face. But if you mix a box of this with an equal amount of cleansing cream (use my formula) it won't irritate the complexion, for it will feed oil into the skin at the same time it takes it out.

Wash your face with hot water, that is, wring your face cloth from hot water and hold it over the face for a minute. While the skin is warm and dripping wet, take up some of the paste, about as big a piece as a hazel nut, rub it gently all over the skin, rubbing hard only where the blackheads are worst. Rinse off thoroughly with hot water, getting all the grit and oil from the skin. Dry, and at once rub the face full of cold cream, either cleansing or flesh building, and rub it in well.
Wipe off with an old cloth. It'd

Home Wedding

At a ceremony performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr.
and Mrs. Henry Riddiford, 1814
Vassar avenue, Glendale, Saturday night, May 9, 1925 at 8 o'clock,
Miss Kate T. Riddiford and
Thomas M. Wallace of Los Angeles, were married. Rev. Philip
K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, performed the ceremony in the presence of a group of relatives and friends.
Roses and ferns were used in artistic arrangement to decorate the Riddiford home.

The bride wore a white satin dress and carried a bouquet of white rosebuds. Miss Helen Riddiford, sister of the bride, and Miss Wilson were bridesmaids.
Marjorie Robb, niece of the bride and Mary Ranney, niece of Mr.
Wallace, were flower girls.
Creighton Woodhouse of Los Angeles, acted as best man.

After the ceremony, an informal reception was held and refreshments served. Mrs. Wallace came to Glendale six years ago from Fort Collins, Colo. Mr. Wallace is the son of Mrs. Ellen Wallace of Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs.
Wallace will make their home at 1814 Vassar avenue. Out of town guests were: Mrs. Ross Den-linger, Mr. and Mrs. Z. Hemphill,
Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Robb and Miss Marjorie Robb of Long Beach, Mrs. Ellen Wallace, Mrs.
Margaret Ranney, William Flanagan, Misses Ellen Isabel and Mary Ranney and Master William Flanagan of Los Angeles.

Busy Designing

Tuesday Afternoon club women of the Fine Arts department, are looking forward to designing a cover for the year book for next year. During recent weeks members of the department have been studying design under John W.
Cotton, resident of Glendale and nationally known artist. At the department meeting tomorrow morning from 10 to 12 o'clock, the major portion of the time will be devoted to design. In addition to the design for the year book, the women are designing covers for the collections of reproductions of California art they have compiled for reference use. Mr. Cotton will speak tomorrow on drawing.
Mrs. Roy A. Balligh, curator, is anxious for a large attendance.

Emblem Wearers

Mrs. Ernest A. Carr, who won honors in Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's clubs, as emblem chairman of the

DOUBLE BILL AT LOCAL BALL PARK

Glendale Carriers Nose Out
L. A. Postal Employees;
Merchants Lose

Local ball fans who gathered at the well-known apple orchard on San Fernando road yesterday afternoon, saw all kinds of baseball. In the opening game they saw the Glendale Letter Carriers come from behind in the seventh inning to overcome a one run lead, after trailing for a long time, and drive across the winning run with two out. When the game was called, the score was: Glendale Letter Carriers, 5; Los Angeles Letter Carriers, 7.

It was the opening game of the Southern California Postal Employees' league. Richards was in the box for the local carriers and was touched for eight hits. Taylor did the mound work for the visitors and allowed nine hits. Whitney did the receiving for Glendale, with Higfield working behind the log for the visitors. Several errors on both sides contributed to runs.

The game was called in the seventh in order to permit the Glendale Merchants and the Pasadena Paints to play. Manager M. R. Bacon, who started his barnstorming tour of eastern states last week, did not overlook much when he left his second string behind, as evidenced by yesterday's game. The exact score is in doubt, but the Painters carried home the bacon at the rate of about 14 to 7.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE TO START TODAY

Firemen And Radios Meet In Opening Contest; Play
At Harvard High

The Twilight baseball league will get under way this afternoon when the Firemen and the Radios meet in the opening game at the Harvard High school diamond. Tomorrow the Calla Lily crew and the Huli Trucks will hook up, and on Wednesday the Glendale Creamery and Postoffice employees tangle. The game for Thursday is not a sure fact as yet, but will probably be between the Christian church and the Public Service team, provided the Public Service men enter the league.

Wednesday night the managers of the various teams will meet with Coach N. C. Hayhurst at the Harvard High school gym to adopt a schedule for the season, arrange necessary rules and work out details of the campaign.

Four games will be played each week, starting at 5:30 o'clock and ending at 7 o'clock, provided four or more innings have been played. Four innings must be played to constitute a game, Coach Hayhurst announced.

BASEBALL

The Pacific Electric ran into a snag yesterday when they tackled the Petroleum Midway team, the oilers winning 3 to 1, mainly due to errors by Dill and Drunert.

Pitcher Rod Gomes allowed the Scully Glove team only three hits and the Crown City team won, 6 to 0, yesterday at Brookside. The winners collected eleven hits off Duncan and Troutwein.

A five-run rally in the sixth gave the Bell Merchants a 6 to 3 victory over Santa Ana yesterday.

The Los Angeles Postoffice Owls, composed of night postal employees, in their initial game, defeated the Southwest Merchants 9 to 3.

Ragged fielding in the last four innings cost the Chanslor-Canfield

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.
NEW YORK, May 11.—All the old fellows in the American league, and some of the young ones, too, are crowing raucously and joyously because of the stunts Ty Cobb is doing with his bat. It is the reaction of ball players who have had Babe Ruth's feats waved before their eyes until they have covertly expressed their annoyance.

He was bound to happen in time, for the ball players, especially the old guard, are not in sympathy with the great Ruthphobia. Cobb used to be the target of the ball players' peeve back in the days when he was the top liner most of the time, and many is the "riding" he has had on the diamond. But now they are cheering the king who, after all his years of activity, has done something that Ruth was never able to do, and that only one other ball player in history has been able to do—bat five home runs in two successive games.

Cap Anson hit that many back in 1884. He had been a national leaguer for eight years and was going on his ninth when he did it. Chicago was so proud of him in those days that Chicago would kid him, just to show its affection. But just let a "foreigner" from Indiana come over the line and try it.

Cap Anson hit his five homers in two games in the month of August, while Cobb, who has just annihilated the American league record, hit his early in May.

That probably gives Anson a little edge, for the old timers contend, with reason, that it is harder to hit pitchers late in the season, after they have got thoroughly under way. At any rate, Cobb has set a new record for the modern big leaguers.

Ruth, Ken Williams and Walker of the Athletics held the American league record conjointly for hitting four homers in two successive games, but they are out of it now, relegated to mere honorable mention.

Incidentally, Cobb is leading the batting percentage race just now, with an even .500, though of course he hasn't played in as many games this season as the runners-up.

But those five homers have given Cobb a niche shared only by the famous Anson. Cobb had to become a player of much longer experience to do his stunt than did Anson. Anson was just in his prime—a big, broad shouldered son of Iowa, whom half the baseball world thought was born in Sweden, because a baseball writer once called him a Viking. Chicago fans who got sore some time when Anson didn't produce a two-bagger some times when there were two or three on base, called him "ya big Swede" instead of the current "ya big bum."

Cobb has the satisfaction of having given three noted ball players their come-uppance with his five homers. It isn't often that three joint record holders can be disposed of in one fell swoop, and that fact makes the rest of the players snicker with joy. To do love to see the mighty humber.

As one of the old timers put it: "I'm glad Cobb did it. If I gotta be spiked I'd rather get the steel from one of the old birds than from a bush leaguer."

The achievement wasn't entirely unexpected to Cobb. Down in Augusta this spring, after he had had his time at bat and had belted one out into the woods, the Georgia Peach said to the writer, who was looking in on the old timers in training:

"Hanged if I don't think some times I'm taking hold of the ball harder than ever this spring. I can feel a thrill all the way up the bat when I hit."

Midway offers a 7 to 2 defeat at the hands of Shell Oil yesterday.

Downey took its second league game, 7 to 3, from Montebello yesterday by getting eight hits off Cruze and Pich.

Saugus turned six hits into six runs while the Los Angeles Power team could convert the same number of hits into only two runs yesterday.

One run in the ninth enabled the William Lane team to beat Burbank, 4 to 3, yesterday at Burbank. Konwright pitched for Burbank, and struck out nine.

FRY'S PHYSICAL FACTS

By PROF. BYRON G. FRY
Health Expert and Champion Bag
Puncher of America.
Written For The Evening News
XXI—Fruit Acids and Milk
Sometimes the tongue becomes coated or one is temporarily annoyed by a bad taste in the mouth while on the milk diet, the same means advised Friday for nausea will successfully eliminate this condition.

The prevailing prejudice against combining acid fruits and milk will, no doubt, come to mind in connection with this suggestion, there is, however, no possible danger of unpleasant results, if instructions are followed in every detail. It has been found that in some instances lemons cause nausea. In such cases, sweet fruit can be used, such as dates or raisins, and the symptoms will disappear. Honey can sometimes be used under such circumstances.

These unpleasant symptoms in connection with the use of lemon juice seem to call for something of an opposite nature, that is, sweets. If yours should happen to be one of these exceptional cases do not make the mistake of trying to take sugar, or other sweets that have gone through a prolonged cooking process, as this would only aggravate the difficulty. Only natural sweets, such as honey, dates, figs or raisins should be used.

While following the milk diet a fullness in the abdominal region may be felt towards night. One need not worry about this in the least. A large quantity of milk naturally fills the alimentary canal almost to its extreme capacity, and beyond the discomfort of the symptoms of fullness, there are no unpleasant results.

While on the milk diet one should be very careful to give the abdominal region full opportunity to expand to the extent necessary. Any tightness of clothing, belts or corsets at this time very seriously interferes with the digestion of milk and should by all means be avoided.

Live as much as possible in the open air while on the milk diet. It is virtually impossible to digest a large quantity of milk if one does not live in a very well-ventilated room, or else out of doors. The symptoms of nausea and biliousness which sometimes accompany the milk diet are often caused by breathing confined and impure air.

Where the patient's stomach is very weak or deficient in digestive juices, the milk will sometimes form into tough curds which are slow and hard to digest, especially if it be taken too rapidly or at too low a temperature. Sometimes patients vomit the curds and they are so large as to lead one to wonder how they could possibly come through the esophagus. In such cases in addition to the lemon juice, greater care than ever before should be exercised to take the milk very slowly and at an increased temperature. When such symptoms appear in such cases the quantity can be reduced though as a rule it is better to continue taking a liberal supply as this flushes the system and helps to remedy unpleasant manifestations of this character.

Tomorrow—Water, with Milk

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., May 11.—Cyril Walker, American open golf champion and a Britisher by birth, will not be a member of the American delegation which will play in the British open tournament this summer. Walker has his heart set on retaining his American title. I'll health hand-capped him in his winter play in the south. Walter Hagen, British open title winner last year, beat him 17 up and 15 in a 72-hole match played at St. Petersburg and Miami, Florida. He does not want to overtax his strength this summer.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Ben Paschal came to Atlanta in the Southern league with the reputation of being a "Babe Ruth." But the woods are full of alleged Babe Ruths. Fate decreed, however, that Paschal was to have a chance to live up to his name. When Babe Ruth's illness forced him out of the line-up before the opening game Paschal was given the task of filling in his shoes. Ben asked out a home run in the first game and has been hitting the ball hard ever since. Subbing for the King is a hard job, but Ben is doing it.

NEW YORK, May 11.—John McGraw believes that he can make a winning pitcher out of Tim McNamara, recently acquired from the Boston Braves. This despite the fact that Tim's record with the Braves was mediocre, considering all things, and that the Giants drove Tim from the box with a six-run fusillade the day the trade was made. McNamara won 5 and lost 12 games with the Braves last season. He pitched but six complete games. This was due partly, however, to Bancroft's efforts to stop the opposing batters by injecting pitchers in relay.

GETS ALONG GOOD AS OWN MANAGER

Mike McGuire Signed Up For
Two Bouts, Each to Net
Him $75,000

By FAIR PLAY
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.
SUMMIT, N. J., May 11.—Mike McGuire is doing very well as his own manager, thank you. Pausing in the midst of his workout at Madame Bey's here today, he announced that he had signed another $75,000 contract.

"It's for a bout with Jack Delaney," explained Mike, "and it goes if I win against Berlenbach. It will be at the Yankee stadium. Under managers, I never fought for more than $20,000 before, and here on my own. I've gone and signed for two bouts at $75,000 each."

Mike was reminded that he was not sure of that $75,000, since it was conditioned upon his beating Berlenbach, and was asked if he thought he would win over the hard-hitting Paul.

"Yes, I think I'll win," said Michael promptly. "I know I'll win by a knockout. I know Paul's style and to me he figures to be one of the easiest top liners I've met." Mike spoke with great sincerity, and then went into a technical explanation of his confidence which listened pretty reasonable. At least it showed that the light heavyweight king has got a head on his shoulders.

Later, after he had been rubbed and the tapes taken off his hands, he displayed his right thumb, which had a long, angry-looking gash from the end of the digit almost down to the wrist.

Anyone who doubts that Mike didn't have an operation, and a mighty difficult one, would change his mind after a glance at that scar and at the pictures taken in Dr. Fralick's operating room.

Hurt On Siki
"I have not been able to use that right," said Mike, "since I busted it on Siki in Dublin, and believe me, as I make ready for Berlenbach, I feel like a man who has got his favorite weapon back."

"I know I've had to take my share of knocking, but that will stop after I meet Paul. You remember now that I said this today, three weeks before the fight. I'm going to make a fight of this bout. If Paul knocks me out, it will be because I fight the way he wants me to fight, and if I do that, I will be knocked out, and will deserve to be."

"But don't intend to fight the way he wants, but the way I want, and I don't expect to be knocked out. As I said, I think the shoe will be on the other foot, which is to say the glove will be on the other chin."

McGuire has as sparring partner, that hefty young light-heavy, Sinclair, who beat Berlenbach when the two were amateurs; Joe Skinner, from the west, a nice-looking lad, and Tom Walsh, whom he brought over from Ireland.

Tom is a pleasant red-head, who has won all his fights on the other side by knockouts, and will show his stuff before American fans when he opens the milk-fund bouts against an opponent as yet not selected.

McGuire is working out wisely, and already he scales under 170 pounds. He doesn't want to take off any more flesh, but is just working for wind and speed and hitting power.

He has got a beautiful straight right which most of the fans know little about. They probably will, though. As for his left, it is the same old long stabbing weapon which has served him so well as to carry him along while his right was practically useless for offense.

He looks to be in the very pink, and the writer never saw a fighter who looked forward to a big bout with such confidence as McGuire does to this one.

TIRE PRICES JUMP
AKRON, Ohio, May 11.—The majority of the tire manufacturers here are expected to follow the example of the Firestone Co., and advance prices five to fifteen per cent exclusive of the smaller sizes used on Fords. April shipments to automobile makers and dealers were 20 per cent above those of April, 1924.

EMPORIA, Kan., May 11.—Eight years ago Earl McKown started his athletic career with one idea in mind—that of becoming a pole vaulter's star. His ambition was realized the other day. Participating in the annual University of Kansas relay games as a member of the Emporia Teachers' College, he established a new record in the pole vault.

McKown's mark was 13 feet, 27-8 inches. He cleared the bar at that figure on his third and last try. The record he broke was held by Ragardner of Yale, made in 1912.

NEW YORK, May 11.—John McGraw believes that he can make a winning pitcher out of Tim McNamara, recently acquired from the Boston Braves. This despite the fact that Tim's record with the Braves was mediocre, considering all things, and that the Giants drove Tim from the box with a six-run fusillade the day the trade was made. McNamara won 5 and lost 12 games with the Braves last season. He pitched but six complete games. This was due partly, however, to Bancroft's efforts to stop the opposing batters by injecting pitchers in relay.

Robert Adams Gets Perfect Bowling Score

Another Glendale bowler has entered the ranks of the famous. Following close on the achievement of Paul Leuthner, proprietor of the Smoke House, 220 East Broadway, who set a new three-game total Wednesday night with 280-265-221, 769, Robert F. Adams, 945 North Louise street, rolled a perfect score of 300 on Saturday night. Adams was rolling with Bill Clania, another Glendalian who belongs to the exclusive circle of 300 bowlers, when the perfect score was made. Adams rolled Friday night with the Kiwanis club and failed to reach the two-century mark, but Saturday night he was hitting the maple, true and hard each time. It is the second time a 300 score has been rolled in Glendale, Clania getting the other perfect game in September, 1923. R. C. Duncan, of Harris & Hull, scored Saturday night's game.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP By FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.
NEW YORK, May 11.—Managers of pugns these days are viewing with alarm the tendency of boxers, as for instance Mike McGuire, to carry on their affairs without the assistance of a second party.

Fighters all over the country, that is, who make big or fair money, are beginning to wonder just why they should split a third or a half of their earnings with men who don't take any punishment, who do nothing but talk and very often don't talk to much purpose at that.

The other day a well known fighter told the writer that he was coming around to the belief that a secretary at $30 a week who would merely attend to his correspondence and keep track of his boxing engagements was all a boxer of any intelligence really needed.

That is true enough. But the trouble is that a great many pugns have not got business heads, nor would they startle anyone with their brain power. So the chances are that managers will never become extinct.

But in almost every case the boxer who reaches a prominent place in his profession is a man who can think with the best of them. And since they are the big money getters it would be a terrible calamity for the "I win, we draw, you lose" fraternity, if Mike McGuire's success in running his own business affairs started a fashion among the outstanding boxers of the country—as may well happen.

Johnny Dundee's future plans are undecided but since his spirited battle against Sid Terris thrilled the crowd and since the verdict in Terris' favor did not meet with the unanimous approval of the spectators, he may still be regarded as about as much of an attraction as ever.

And, being an attraction, there is money in sight for him that he will not think of overlooking. Which means that sooner or later this fine old veteran will run into a stiff lull and fade out. Then and not until then, however, will he hang the old gloves up and take his place among those who used to be.

This Tommy Walsh, who has just come over from Ireland and will show here for the first time in the Milk Fund bouts is touted as future middleweight champion prospect.

Just now he needs experience and toughening such as he will get in touring through the preliminary class. He is only 19 years old but he has got a very impressive right hand, and is clever in the bargain.

Tex Rickard lets other promoters do the talking while he quietly looks into the future, picks out probable winners and hooks them to contracts for two or more battles. When all his plans for the summer are made public, the fans will realize just what a cagey guy Rickard is.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, May 11.—Speculative interest returned to the motor stocks today and spectacular forward movements took place in a number of the low-priced stocks in this group. Stocks of the principal motor accessories companies continued to push forward on moderate activity, the most prominent being the rubber and tire companies.

With sales in the aggregate of about 1,000,000 shares up to noon, the market exhibited unusual activity. It was a narrow market, however, with few of the industrial, railroad, oil or public utility stocks participating in the movement except as they were sold in the process of "shifting" over to the motor stocks. American Sumatra Tobacco preferred furnished the only sensational development in its 19-point jump to 67, as bears who sold the stock short on receivership last week struggled to extricate themselves from the trap into which they had apparently walked.

Studebaker and Willys-Overland, common and preferred, led an active market in the motor stocks, the former reaching a new high for the year at 47 and the latter at 24½. A dozen or more of the best-known motor stocks, including Hudson, Pierce-Arrow, General Motors and Chandler, made the best records on the current movement, in some cases rising to the highest levels of the year. United States Rubber and Timken Roller Bearing featured the accessory stocks, while Continental continued to be absorbed in large volume at slightly higher prices.

Outside of the firm trend in some commodities, of which crude rubber was the most important, there were no important developments in industrial conditions. Call money's decline to 3½ per cent brought rates to the level prevailing during the sensational advances in prices of the first part of March. Grain rallied from its reactionary opening trend, but cotton was weak as the result of beneficial rains over important sections of the cotton belt.

The railroads, oil, copper and industrial stocks were almost completely ignored in the late trading. Some profit-taking in the industrial leaders accounted for declines of a point or more in the active issues. Cast Iron pipe was weak and Baldwin declined to around the low of the year and five points below last week's high. Trans-Continental Oil monopolized activity in the oil shares; sales were heavy, but prices turned reactionary after the first hour. Marland and Phillips reported a few sales.

Montgomery Ward and Sears-Roebuck attracted some attention with their active forward movements late in the session.

When shorts in American Sumatra Tobacco preferred bid 2 per cent premiums for the loans of the stock, the price advanced to 69¼, up 21 points for the day and 40 points since last Thursday. The shorts scored near the close of the market, however, when the price declined 16 points, to 53, and the common lost 2 points, to 74.

Colorado Fuel & Iron closed strong, with a sharp run up to 41¼, a gain of 2½ points.

Motor stocks sold off on profit-taking in the last hour, and a few of the high-priced industrial and rail stocks were also reactionary. The Dodge Brothers' stock finished in excellent form, the combined prices of the preference and "A" stocks being around 105, compared with the recent decline to 96.

General Motors was strong at the close. Stock sales, 1,674,400 shares; bonds, $12,348,000.

MARKET SUMMARY

Coal-liga and Midway fields, in Kern county, are "coming back" with a vengeance, a resume of the oil situation in Southern California reveals.

Nationally speaking, oil conditions are on the mend, according to market wires, an increase in consumption during March for domestic gasoline totaling close to 32 per cent. Exports are monthly surpassing former records this year.

Rain Expected

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—Additional rain was the prospect today for sections of Northern California, according to the weather bureau forecast. Rain fell steadily Sunday over sections of Northern and Central California. Stockton reported rain throughout the night.

Cherries and grain in the San Joaquin valley and grapes and raisins in Fresno were threatened with slight damage should the fall be prolonged, according to word from growers.

out. Today he refuses to sell his purebred cattle.

A cotton rancher reports making between $4000 and $6000 more profit than the anticipated on his 240-acre crop this last season. This holds true in Kern, Imperial, Riverside and Tulare counties.

Vegetable Crops

Vegetable crops are moving from San Luis Obispo, Fresno, Santa Barbara and Imperial counties at very favorable prices. Short planting of the bean crop gives promise of high prices to Ventura and Orange county growers.

Sacramento and San Joaquin valley citrus was not touched by frost, and is yielding well on another short market. Sugar beet growers are living in hope of a slightly better market, but walnuts, alfalfa and poultry are more than making up any of these potential losses with diversification being almost universally practiced. Pasturage for cattle is plentiful, although some southern beekeepers are moving their colonies to summer camps in the Rocky mountains, according to Riverside advices. So much for farmers.

Water Supply

The water supply is short in the south this year, but not serious, as the initial price for pumping equipment was paid out last season. The rivers of California are carrying an abundant supply, with actual flood danger in Imperial valley, Kern county, Sacramento valley and other places being noted. Altogether, conditions are assuring in this respect. Stanislaus county doesn't care if "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More." They are prospering on the pump there, with high-prices for their products.

Real estate conditions are markedly better, subdividers shooting full-page advertising, many deals being turned, according to reports from San Jose, San Diego, Santa Ana, Fresno, Oakland, Los Angeles, San Francisco and other centers, although the market is not featured by speculation. Sound investments are being made regularly. Building in most communities, with few exceptions, is now exceeding the same period in 1924.

Business is intangible, but well-patronized theatres, large restaurant crowds and a slow season for summer apparel are some of the straws in the wind indicating that people have money to spend when they are ready.

Motion Picture Work

Motion picture production, fruit, fish and vegetable canning, oil and manufacturing industries, are running full time, and some expansion is already under way. Lumbering is better this year in northern California than it has been for five seasons. Railways have large programs, while municipalities and other political subdivisions, including the state government, are spending more money in public improvements than ever before in history.

Doran Street School Damage Is $12,000

The building was of tight frame construction and the fire was hard to reach, but by hard work it was confined to the main hallway where it started.

Roof Crashes In

Doors leading into the rooms surrounding the hall are charred in the hall side but undamaged on the inside. The roof crashed into the center of the building and into some of the rooms but the outside wall remains standing.

The large inside hall formed a virtual chimney for the flames and menaced the lives of firemen who climbed on the roof almost directly over the fire to pour water into the blaze and onto the walls of the surrounding rooms. No one was injured, however.

Classes will be resumed in a small brick class room and in a small bungalow room, located on the school grounds but not attached to the main structure. In the overcrowded quarters the students will be required to attend in shifts, one-half of them attending classes during the forenoon and the other half in the afternoon.

The blaze could not have started from a short circuit, according to Fire Chief Lankford because all wiring was in conduits. There was no furniture or rubbish in the main hallway where it originated.

Erected in 1914

The burned structure was erected in 1914 and was first occupied in January, 1915. At the time of its construction it was considered one of the most modern types of school buildings in point of floor plan, although it was of light frame material.

From proceeds of the last bond issue the four-room brick building was erected on the same grounds. It is in that structure that school will again begin tomorrow morning, with students doubling up in half-day sessions.

The burned school accommodated about 150 pupils.

GUN WOUND KILLS FORMER RESIDENT

Walter G. Burr, Eagle Rock,
Found Dead With Bullet
Hole In Heart

Mystery surrounds the death of Walter G. Burr, former resident of Glendale, Saturday afternoon, May 9, 1925, at his home, 5140 Eagle Dale avenue, Eagle Rock. According to first reports, Mr. Burr, who had been suffering from nervousness, killed himself shortly after noon Saturday by placing a rifle against his heart and pulling the trigger with a foe. Friends of the family stated this morning that Mr. Burr was alone at home at the time of the accident, that he was killing pigeons in the yard and that his death was accidental. He was dead when found by his wife, who notified the Eagle Rock police. No inquest will be held.

Former City Employee

Mr. Burr, who was 44 years of age, was a surveyor. He was a former employee of the city of Glendale. Recently he had been employed by Burns, McDonald, Smith Co., in the installation of the sewer line on San Fernando road. He once lived in Monrovia. Surviving him besides his widow, Mrs. Mary B. Burr, are his mother, Mrs. F. W. Burr; and two brothers, Myron and Clyde Burr of Monrovia.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Renaker funeral chapel, Monrovia. Interment will be in Live Oak cemetery, Monrovia.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Glendale's school housing situation will be decidedly affected by fire demon's destruction of the Doran street school last night. Undoubtedly this blaze will call for an addition to the proposed school bond issue, with a view to restoring the building in that rapidly developing section of the city with a brick structure.

The fire hazard is not to be courted in school houses and in most instances Glendale is fortunate in having safe buildings for its children. Doran street school was more or less temporary and of one-story construction. But there are schools in Glendale housing grammar grades which it would be wise to replace. Fires do not always come at midnight.

How many of you older residents have heard Richard Jose, the lyric tenor, sing "Silver Threads Among the Gold." He made the song famous forty years ago, and it was the writer's pleasure to hear the venerable deputy real estate commissioner singing the old time favorites at the San Joaquin Valley Real Estate association picnic, Saturday.

"Dick" Jose is a wonderful old man. Starting life as a smithy's helper, he built a splendid physique which carried him through a long career on the stage and in business. And, according to D. Richard Ainsley, president of the California Real Estate association, who partook of eleven pieces of Tulare county fried chicken, Dick downed seventeen pieces of resistance before he warbled "When You and I Were Young, Maggie."

The real song of the day, however, was a duet by young Harvey Humphreys, secretary of the Fresno Realty board, and Mr. Jose, together they sang "Moonlight and Roses." Ah, but the world moves with song!

A New Jersey judge last week edited a daily paper in his home city and kept crime off of the front page. It so happened that they had a first class shooting that day and the story thereof was relegated with some scrambled sporting news on page 24.

From certain standpoints, according to reports current, the judge's efforts met with success, because he had the full co-operation of the reportorial and editorial staffs in putting forth a constructive edition. But competing papers with stories of the shooting outside that edited by the judge.

His choice of the sporting page for a slaying was more or less right, in view of court procedure to follow. Shooting people is the great American sport. Lawyers fatten on spicily divorce cases and crime is capitalized in this country in more ways than a newspaper uses it for page one news.

Nevertheless, a cleanup of the columns of home newspapers is being effected by the public's desire for something better. By something better, however, one does not mean Emerson's essays or Bill Bryan's speeches. Fact is, less than 20 per cent of page one news in America's largest newspapers is devoted to crime or court events, according to a checkup made by the Medill School of Journalism at Chicago. And that's that.

comparison with figures for the year show that it was more than satisfactorily met.

Scholarship Loan
Following Mrs. S. L. Gillan's report as scholarship chairman, it was decided that the scholarship loan be made again next year to Miss Emily Collins, student at University of California, southern branch, the first beneficiary of the club. She will receive $300 from the club to assist her in financing her college course next year.

Mention was made of the proposed elementary school bond issue, Mrs. Charles A. Barker, and Mrs. A. A. Barton, president of the elementary school board, urging the club women to go to the polls and support the issue.

Mrs. Frank Ayars, chairman of education, following report of activity of her committee, announced that the club is sponsoring the 9 o'clock assembly Thursday, May 14, at Broadway High school for high school girls and mothers. Mrs. Helen Mathewsen McLaughlin, dean of women of University of California, southern branch will speak.

Picnic Is Planned
Decision was made to close the club year with a picnic in June at the home of Mrs. Montague Cleaves, Montrose. During the meeting action was taken adopting revision of by-laws as outlined at the meeting in April and given in resume in The Glendale Evening News at that time.

Mrs. Parr in presenting her annual report recommending that the club establish a fund for the work of developing contact with Glendale High school girls and their mothers. Her report follows:

Presidents' Report
"As the president of Glendale College Women's club for the year June 1924 to June 1925, I beg leave to submit the following report:

"I have conducted all regular meetings of the executive board and the club. We started our year with 111 members enrolled. Several resigned and others dropped because of non-payment of dues, leaving 100 names on the roll. We have had eight new members to date, making a total of 108 names on the roll. There are twenty-eight teachers on our roll. There are forty-eight active members of the American Association of University women and sixty associate members.

New Department
"Natural history, the activities of the club at this stage in its development show some experimental processes. Our two new departments for the year have progressed very satisfactorily. Mrs. E. B. Sutton's civic committee has been able to show that we intend to have a standing in the community that befits college trained women, but in no way did it want to dictate, as the spirit of co-operative interest was its guide. Mrs. F. C. Ayars' education committee has started in on the development of contact with the high school women may help in the guidance of the girls, who will soon be seeking further educational training.

"In these days of modern complexes, we need to stress more greatly our faith in certain fundamentals of life. If we truly believe, and we do, that we are better citizens for having had college training, then we must show evidence of that belief in serving our community as individuals and as a club of college women, so that the public will appreciate more fully our stand. It is not right for us to be too consumed with our personal interest to prevent our doing our share for public service.

Study Classes
"When we look over our membership we can see that for the most part, we are living up to the above requirements, as truly as our teachers are doing their duty and the others, who are working in the Parent-Teacher association, child welfare work, churches, and our other splendid women's clubs and in political groups. Let us not duplicate the work of the other organizations.

"The new study class, though small, is proving that we appreciate that in order to cope with life's misunderstandings we must concentrate on its problems. The program committee, Mrs. J. S. Hayward, chairman, has very satisfactorily complied with the request to bring 'Food for your thoughts,' in the varied subjects placed on the program, which is recorded in our first year book.

Adding Students
"Mrs. S. L. Gillan as chairman of the scholarship fund, with her committee, has ably taken care of her work. She has kept in close touch with the recipient, Miss Emily Collins, of our first scholarship and has been able to add to the fund for the same use next year.

"Mrs. Shives Mitchell, chairman of membership, has carefully followed up the work so well started to keep our membership cards and has added new names to the club role.

"Mrs. F. S. Balthis and her committee have aided greatly in our attempt to develop a more friendly atmosphere among club members. To Miss Charlotte Spier and her committee we owe a great deal of gratitude for their efforts in making our luncheons and feasts so attractive and successful.

"My officers have been unusually patient with me in my many efforts in the interest of the club and truly have been an inspiration and exceedingly helpful to me. Under Mrs. A. L. Ferguson the publicity of the club has been

Piano Recital Given Saturday Afternoon

A piano recital was given Saturday afternoon by Miss Lucille Harris of Los Angeles at the studio of Miss Pauline Ruprecht, 1847 Gardena avenue, Glendale. Miss Harris was assisted by two readers, Miss Thalia Wilson and Mary Jo Armour, pupils of the Little Players' studio. The recital was enjoyed by a large number of guests.

The program follows: "Sonata Op. 27 No. 2" (Beethoven); "Waltz C. Minor" and "Polonaise" (Chopin); "C. Minor Prelude" (Chopin); "On Wings of Song" (Mendelssohn-Liszt); Lucille Harris; "Reassurance," musical reading, and "A Poor Old Maid," Miss Wilson; "Sing a Song of Sixpence" and "Billy Goat, Silly Goat," by Miss Armour. After the recital, refreshments were served by the Misses Ruprecht. Pupils appearing in the recital are pupils of Miss Pauline Ruprecht.

handled in a most able manner. May I express sincere thanks to local papers for publicity given?

"We have quite closely adhered to the budget in the expenditure of club funds. As Miss White has told you, we have been able to spend $40 for the Y. M. C. A. building fund from savings on other items.

"If the club believes in the work already started in connection with the high school girls, then I recommend that it allow a definite amount from the treasury for next year's work in that line. So, with that, and the Y. M. C. A. pledge of $40, and a scholarship fund of $300, there is definite work ahead of you, in a financial way.

Represented Club
"It has been a great pleasure to have served you this year. I have represented you at the Chamber of Commerce forum dinner, and on the school bond campaign committee.

"My mistakes have been many, but please remember that I am sincerely interested in the club and its possibilities and hope that it will become so established in our city that it will be truly worthy of being a branch of such a wonderful organization as the American Association of University Women."

Guest of Honor
Mrs. Henry Goodell, president of the California division of the American Association of University Women, was guest of honor at the club meeting Saturday. After luncheon she spoke briefly of the state convention May 15 and 16 at Sacramento, over which she will preside. She complimented the local branch on its great growth since her last visit.

Miss Gertrude Darlow, recognized as one of California's literati, was the honor speaker of the afternoon. California club women accord Miss Darlow honors in the field of literature and she is always heralded on club programs as a speaker with a message of interest and cultural value.

Saturday she chose to talk on biography, autobiography plays, essays and poetry. The first book was the autobiography, "My Life in Art" by Constantin Stanislavsky, dedicated to "hospitable America," which she said is a vivid picture of Russian character, a book bound to be accorded a place of rank in the literature of the opera and stage. Next she sketched Sherwood Anderson's autobiography, "A Story Teller's Story," Alfred Kreymborg's "Troubadour," Thomas Burke's "A Wind and the Rain."

Discusses Plays
In the realm of plays she gave brief resumes of Galsworthy's "Old English," Lennox Robinson's "Crabbed Youth and Age"; and the one act play "Danger" from the collection, "A Rabbit and a Leg" by Richard Hughes. This last play is of special interest because it was the first play written in England for broadcasting over the radio. It was written with the intention of appealing to the sense of hearing. The setting is down in a coal mine and the play, if presented on the stage, is given in darkness. Miss Darlow stated that the dialogue over impending danger and possible death is most dramatic.

Essays mentioned by the speaker are Middleton Murray's "Discoveries" and W. C. Bronell's "The Genius of Style." In modern poetry she stated that most collections and anthologies are disappointing, but that there are many fugitive poems of worth. She mentioned George Moore's book, "Pure Poetry," and in closing she read a most unusual poem for children from A. A. Mills' "When We Were Very Young."
